Bursting at the Seams

Challenger 2005

2369 students crowd the halls of Kellam making the building seem to "Burst at the Seams." With the largest population in Virginia Beach, chaos could have reigned, however, Kellam students have proven their excellence. After the devastating tsunami in Asia, students and staff proved themselves to be bursting with generosity. A combined fundraising effort with chorus, band, orchestra, drama and SCA raked in over $10,000. With both personal bests and team landmarks, Kellam's athletic program showed itself to be bursting with talent. Not to be outdone, the various arts programs recieved recognition and scholarships enough to make them burst with pride.

Student Life 4

With standing room only, Kellam didn't fail to cheer the Knights on to a Homecoming victory.

Clubs 100

Concentration and precision are required for Drum Majorette Jean Adler as she directs the band's half-time performance at a football game.

Crashing the boards for an offensive rebound after a free throw, the Lady Knights prove that intensity wins ball games. As Lauren Tupman fights in the paint, Kayla Carpenter jumps for the ball and a bucket.

Anything you can do I can do Better

Sophomore Allison Crute's true passion is the surf. She is sponsored by both WRV and Quiksilver and won't stop there. She is out to go big and make the best of the Virginia Beach surf.

"You've gotta give it your all when you cut it close to the shore, especially if shore breaks are all you are gonna get!"

Ashley McGuffey

Getting Started

Taking baby steps in Puerto Rico, sophomore Samantha Thompson decides that getting up and staying up might be the hardest part to tackling the wave.

These gnarley waves kept Brandon Carr stoked all day.

Beach Bums

Shredin' ... Sunnin' ... and Surfin'

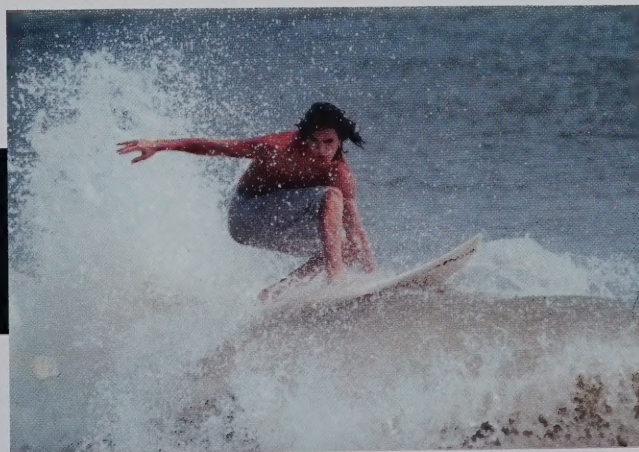

Riding this ankle slapper to the very end, sophomore Stephanie Hull holds on in an effort to make the most of the Virginia Beach surf.

Aweing the Tourists

Making it look easy, Brandon McNair (junior), is surfing at First Street, a popular surf spot for Kellam- at least before the tourists take over the beach.

Rolling Around

A true sponger at heart, senior L.J. Ferguson cuts back into the barrel to prolong his ride.

Friday Knight Live

Knights Rock Kellam

By: Keri Cullen and Ashleigh Smith

Legions of the Dead

"[Friday Night Live] is one of the most fun times we've had playing live," said bandmate to sophomore Mike Greene, who plays the guitar in Legions of the Dead.

Casting Curses

"I hope . . . wasn't pop punk enough, so we started a new band," said the boys of Casting Curses. Junior Bryan Tobin, the singer and guitarist, rocks out with adoring fans.

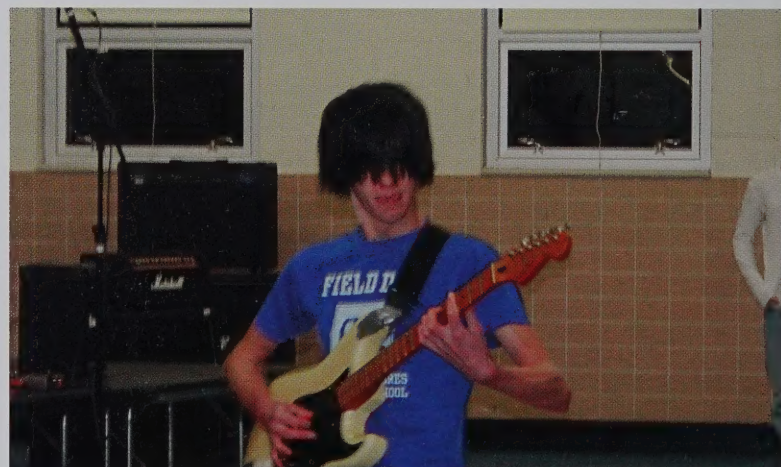

Run Around Frank

At Friday Night Live, senior Jaime Peterson plays drums for the band Run Around Frank. "We love playing here because it's cool that all the bands come together to help each other out," said his bandmate, TJ Vazquez.

Casting Curses

The beat for Casting Curses was kept by Tony Agrios, the drummer.

Divine Endings

"This is the first day our CD has been available for sale," said one of David Braxton's bandmates. David strums his guitar for his band, Divine Endings.

American Shorties

Red-faced from singing his heart out, freshman Kyle Phillips said of his Christian band, "It's fun to play the music I like, and even though it's not the most popular type, there are other people who like it too."

Lacrymosa

"We like to play weird instruments," said junior Megan Marker before she went on stage to play her tambourine.

Lacrymosa

"I only participated in Friday Knight Live to get closer to Thomas Leahy," Caitlin Pasko of Lacrymosa jokingly said.

I Hope...

With a gorilla mask on his head, junior Ryan Nottingham is one of the vocalists for his band, I Hope . . .

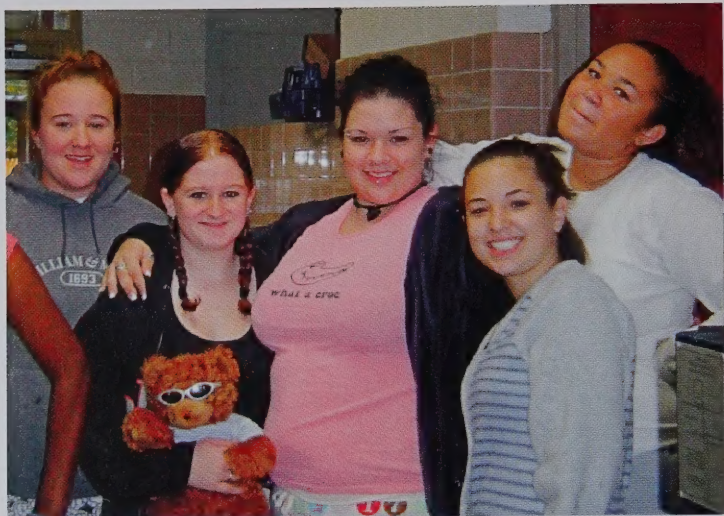

Until Next Time

"Friday Knight Live is good practice for real shows," said junior Thomas Leahy, the singer and guitarist of Until Next Time.

I Hope...

"Casting Curses wasn't metal enough so we started I Hope . . .," said junior Ryan Loftis. Kevin Miller plays bass, Ryan Loftis screams, and Ryan Nottingham plays guitar.

Pajama Day

Friends Kristin Lake senior, Sarah Partlow sophomore, Ashli Comstock junior, Rachel Hummel senior, and Brandy Green junior show off their pajamas in the hallway before the bell rings.

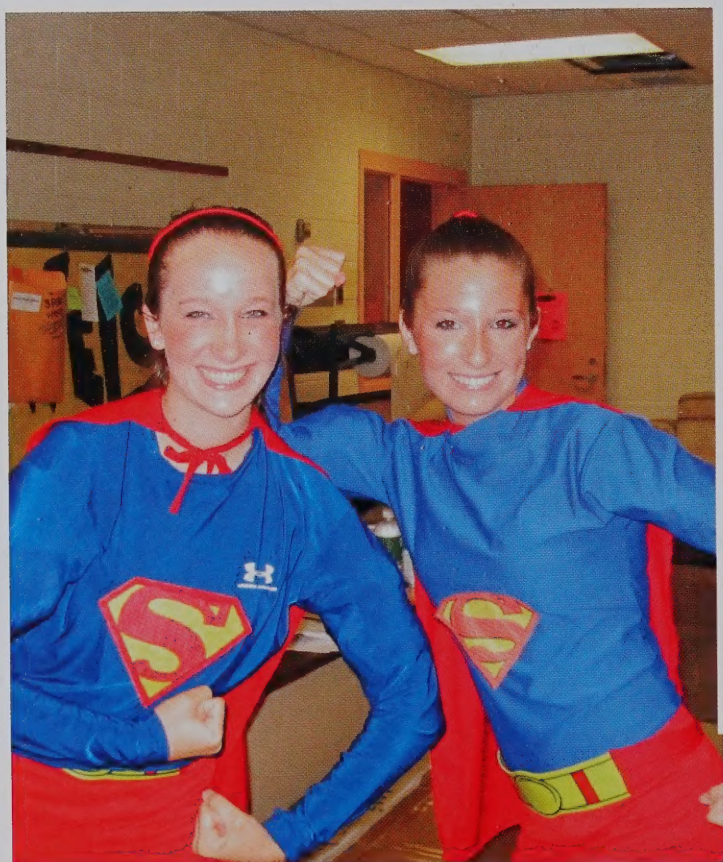

"Spirit Week was a great way to see how much people were willing to look goofy for Kellam."

Katie Kowaleski

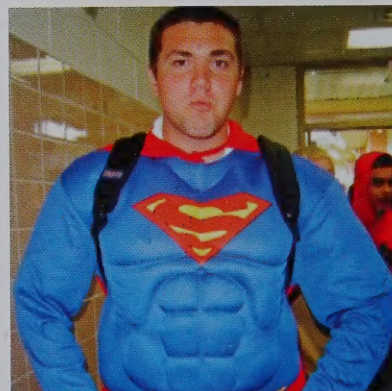

"Whoever knew dressing so ridiculous could be so entertaining."

Karynne Purdy sophomore

Kellam students wear school colors while they join together for a homecoming pep rally at the end of spirit week.

With muscles of steel, senior Taryn Smith and junior Lauren Kilmon flex to reveal their super strength.

Bursting With School Pride

By Kathleen McConnell

Eighties Day

"I love the 80's," said freshman Kelsie Strawhand who fashionably mixed eighties style with her present day appearance.

Pep Rally

Brave students suffer from brain freezes while they attempt to drink slushies as fast as possible during the homecoming pep rally.

Superhero Day

Many celebrities were spotted throughout school, including junior Nick Wiggins who dressed up as his hero "flavor flaaav" from public enemy.

Homecoming

Knight Time - Kellam at it's best

By: Ashleigh Smith and Keri Cullen

Summer Lovin'

Two freshman girls dance on their Grease inspired float, while representing the freshman class.

S-P-I-R-I-T!

Cheering her team to victory, junior Lauren Kilmon shows a lot of spirit.

Touchdown!

While Demetrius Taylor runs for a touchdown, senior Damon Bateson blocks their opponents.

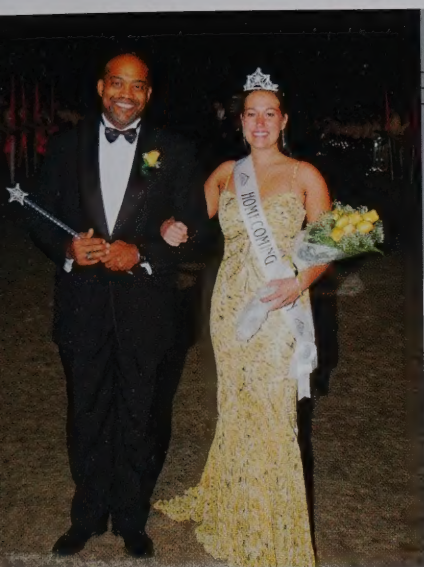

Get Smart!

The drama students wave to the crowd and promote their new play, Get Smart, with their float.

It's Night Time!

Knights support their football team by making a school-spirited banner and displaying it at homecoming.

Fit for a Queen

Grease Lightning

After recreating the carnival in Grease, freshmen Chrissy Forbes and Josh Cromwell imitate the two main characters, Sandy and Danny.

KNIGHTS IN THE MAKING?

Crown bearer Madelyn Sears is having a blast, in part because she was escorted by septor bearer Garrett Swanger and Principal Bruce Biehl.

All Smiles

While participating in the parade during half time, seniors Ross Summerell and Kristin Vangraafeiland wave to the crowd.

All-American Experience

Exchange student Min-Hee Chung, escorted by Derrick Ross, was able to be involved in an experience outside of her Chinese culture.

Twist and Shout

The sophomore class helps the crowd relive a classic moment from Ferris Bueller's Day Off.

UNDERCLASSES

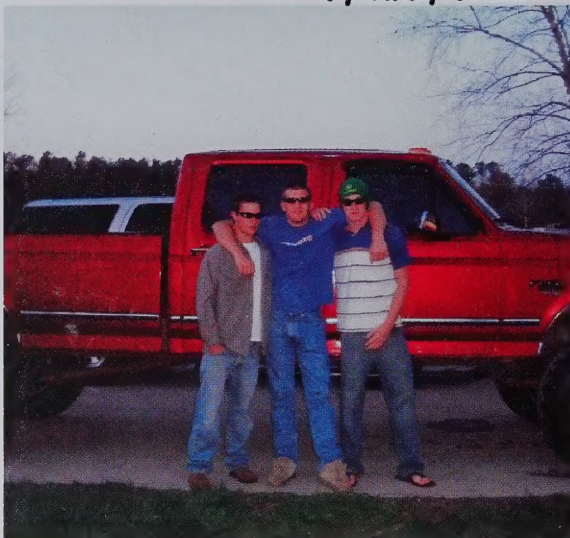

From Point A To Point B

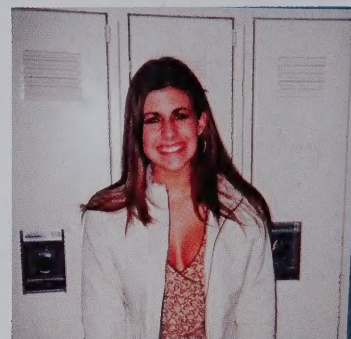

By Ginny Wood

Senior Matt Hightower's 1997 Mitsubishi Galant's red tinted windows match the interior of his car and adds flavor to the parking lot.

"The bigger the better," said junior Joey Moore, in reference to his bright red Ford F-350, as he stands in front of his "beaut" along with Andrew Cake and Chris Fowler. "I'm a real country boy!"

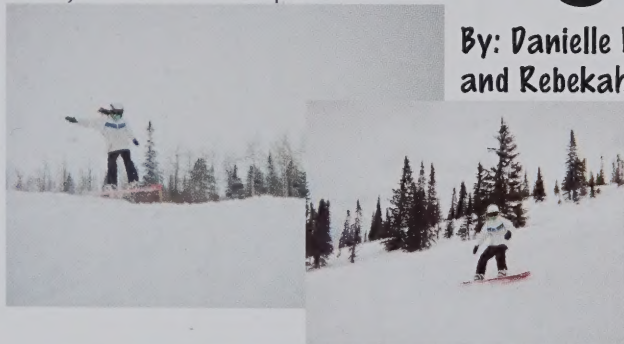

Over the summer, Caresse Mitchell, junior, went to the car lot with her parents and picked out her 2003 red Mitsubishi Spyder Eclipse Convertible and said, "It was probably the best day of my life!"

Living On The Edge

"Snowboarding is awesome, I've been doing it since I was 11," said junior Jessie Thompson.

By: Danielle Kervahn
and Rebekah Manwell

Not many can say they have the guts for bungee jumping like senior Sara Dickens can.

Working Knights

Hard at work preparing smoothies, sophomore Jacob Fisher and junior Kevin Cake work at the new Tropical Smoothie Cafe.

By: Danielle Kervahn

"Working at All-Pet is fun, especially because I love animals," said senior Meghan Hawkins.

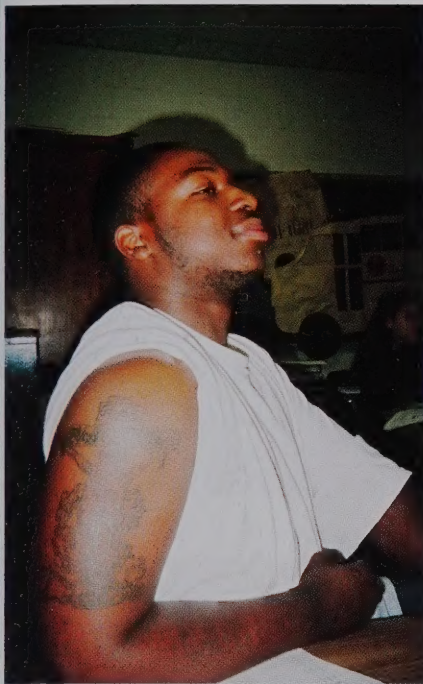

Many Kellam students earn cash by working at Friendly's, including junior Kellye Cunningham.

Seams

Normal

By: Ashleigh Smith and Keri Cullen

"My parents think my nose, tongue, and navel piercings look good on me," freshman Jenna Thomson said.

"Mr. Miles drew the design of Jesus for me because I knew I wanted to get something spiritual," senior Justin Gibbs said.

"My tattoos represent Heaven and Hell. This is what I believe in, and it will never change," senior Philip Teague said.

"I didn't do it to be part of a clique; I did it for myself," freshman Flora Russell said.

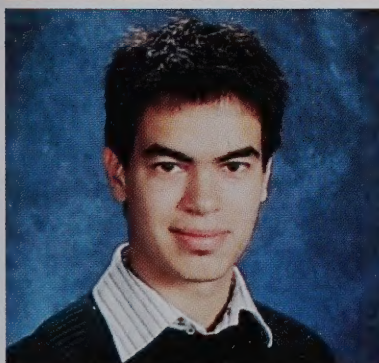

Foreign Knights

By Raquel Monell

"I joined band because I love music and can play a lot of instruments," Min-Hee a junior from Korea said.

"People in my classes are so open minded and nice to me," junior Darja Pessin from Germany said.

Foreign Knight, Tino, a sophomore from Finland said his favorite thing about America is, "The mall, I love the mall."

"Math class is my favorite because it's easy and because Mr. Zecchini is really funny," said exchange student Hannah Cuvendus, a junior from Germany.

"Even the smallest things are different here," said German exchange student, junior Hannah Holtum.

Talented Knights Shining Stars

Popular Friday Night Live band, Casting Curses, consists of juniors Ryan Loftis, Bryan Tobin, Kevin Miller, and Tony Agrios.

Juniors Megan Marker and Caitlin Pasko together form the band, Lacrymosa, and play at local shows. "We're like the elephant in the room no one's talking about," said Caitlin and Megan.

At the Miss Teen Virginia USA pageant, sophomore Elle Bunn placed in the top fifteen.

The spring musical, Seussical, features junior Laura Macinski in a leading role.

Seamingly Twins

By Ashleigh Smith and
Keri Cullen

"I get told I look like Jack Osbourne every day of my life," junior Ryan Loftis said.

"Rock hard," freshman Drew Heath said while doing his best Steve-o impersonation.

"A certain group of my friends always calls me Sandra," sophomore Lauren Simon said.

Favorite Reality Tv Shows

By Jamie Roberts

"I like this show because the models are always fighting and never eat, so it makes me feel better and lucky that I don't have to starve myself to feel pretty," said junior Hannah Seda about the tv show America's Next Top Model.

"My favorite quote from the show is, 'Is this chicken or is this fish? I know it's tuna, but it says chicken by the sea'," said junior Krissy Martin about the tv show The Newly Weds.

"I like the show Fear Factor because it shows how dumb people are and how the world is driven by money," sophomore Jake Sims said.

World Travelers

By Jamie Roberts

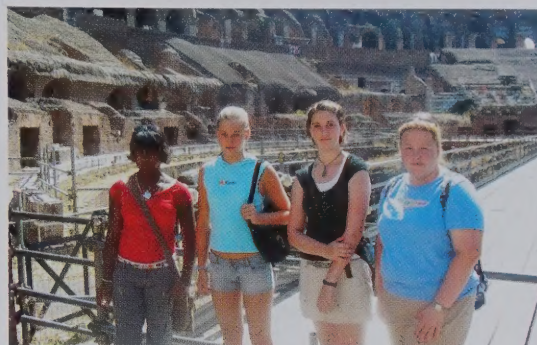

Visiting Paris, Mrs. Caraballo's French class gathers together in front of the Eiffel Tower for a group photo to remember their time in France. "My favorite parts of the trip were the legal drinking age in France, and also the shopping," sophomore Lisa Venanzi said.

Back: Ben Prices, Beth Doughtie, Heather Merner, Shannan Foley, Stevie Zaller, Mary Carter, Shane Sisco, Lisa Venanzi, Megan Ewald, Brandy Greene

On a trip to Italy, sophomores Stephanie Sorey and Jamie Roberts imitate a gaurdian statue at the Etruscan Tombs. "Going to Rome was an experience unlike anything I've ever done. The view from Mount Vesuvius and the tombs were breathtaking, it's something I'll never forget," Stephanie said.

Along with the sightseeing of other Ancient Roman remains, junior Mia, freshman Skyler Bivens, sophomore Jamie Roberts and Stephanie Sorey visit the famous Coliseum. "Italy was beautiful. The trip was fun and exciting, it's something I'll never forget. I think the best part about it were the nights out in the city itself. All of the sights were amazing...especially the guys," Skyler said.

Kellam Hotspots

"When we need to just get out, me and the gang walk up to farm fresh and chill," said sophomores Chelsea Coulson and Jen Seeds.

By: Kathleen McConnell and Kaitlin Boggi

"The best part about going to the movies is the jujubes and popcorn," said freshman Megan Cassara.

"My friends and I usually go to the Wal-Mart shopping center to have fun and run around like stupid kids," said sophomore Cyndrah Russ-O'Shea.

"When my friends and I go to the mall, we shop 'till we drop," said junior Lyndsey Creekmore with fellow shopper Michelle Whiteside.

Local skateboarders, including sophomore Jed Tuazon, go to their friends' houses to skateboard.

Step by Step

In eager anticipation for a rainy day, junior Laura Miller dons her pink and purple rain boots which premeierd in hallways this fall.

by: Ginny Wood and Jessica Quattrini

The girls volleyball team sure knew how to show school spirit by wearing these creative flip flops on game days. "All the girls had a sleep over at my house, and we all made a pair," says Elle Bunn, sophomore.

Senior Justin Leake's buckled boots hit his leg midcalf and serve all-purposes especially in the rugged terrain of the parking lot.

Freshman Spencer Tassone flaunts these Burberry look alike kicks on and off Kellam's finest floors.

Excited about his admission to William and Mary, senior Ross Summerell shows off his green and gold shoes.

Sibling Rivalry

All three Wadzitas are together in the same school, senior Kerry, sophomore Brent, and freshman Tim.

By Danielle Kervahn

"Since I started at Kellam I have been called 'little Kervahn' because of my sister," said freshman Remy Kervahn about older sister, junior Danielle.

"Its awesome being in marching band together because on trips if one of us forgets something the other one always has it," senior Catherine Kammer said about freshman sister Margaret.

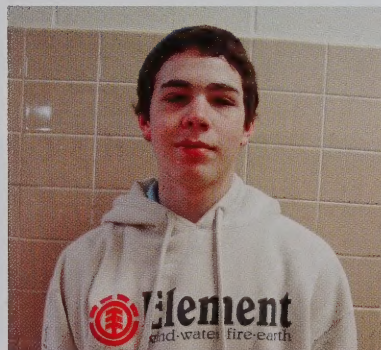

Bursting with Talent

"I started fencing a year ago because I thought it would be really cool," freshman Lindsey Crouch said.

By Keri Cullen and Ashleigh Smith

"I'm really excited about my new unicycle. I know I have three, but I can get up to fifteen miles per hour on this one," junior Brian Beni said.

"My grandparents are into genealogy and since we're Scottish, they thought it would be cool for me to play the bagpipes," junior John East said.

Stranded On An Island:

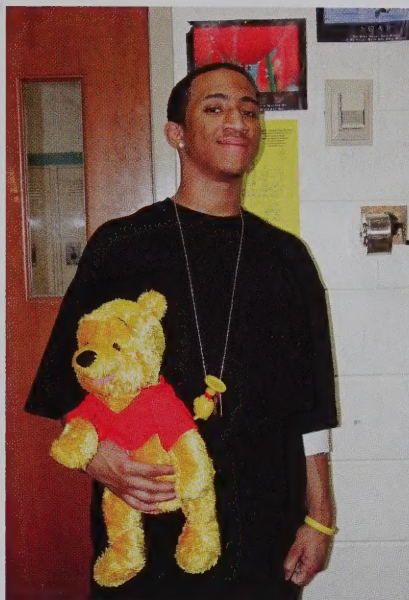

What would you bring?

By Jamie Roberts

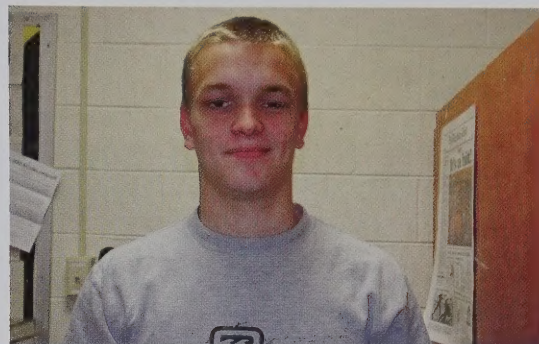

"If I was stuck on an island and could only bring two things with me, I would bring my boyfriend and my phone. I'd bring my phone so when I get annoyed with my boyfriend I could call my friends to talk to them," senior Senika Winston said.

"I would bring a survival kit to last me a lifetime with all my favorite foods. Plus girlies with houses filled with all the things I can't live without," said junior Dj Toomer.

"I would take my long board...and my short board too," said junior Mike Sheffield.

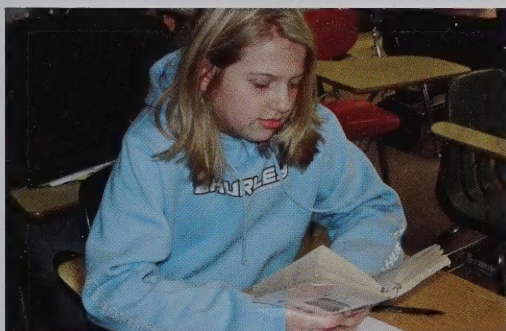

"I would bring my dog, Tucker, and a big bottle of sunscreen," senior Sarah Lane said.

Study Block:

What do you really do?

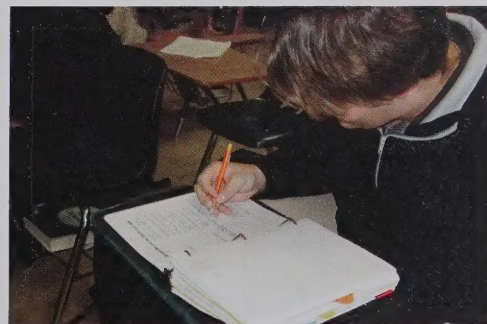

"To pass the time I read books or complete my homework," freshman Remy Kervahn said.

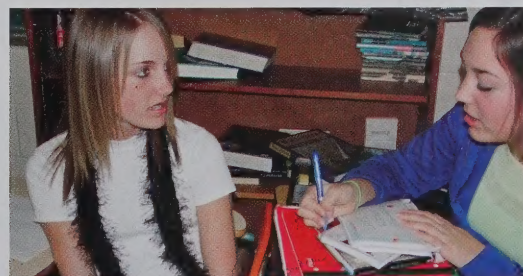

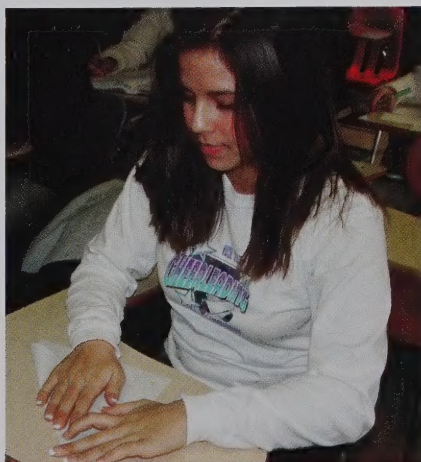

By Mallory Goff

"I cram in all my homework I haven't finished, study Latin, and write notes. That's about it," freshman Chelsea Capers said.

"Well, if I have work, then I do that," junior Jeff Noel said when asked what he does in study hall.

"I talk to my friends and sleep," freshman Matt Venner said when asked what he usually does in study block.

"I practice Spanish dialogues with my friend and I do all my homework for the rest of the day. After I'm done with that, I just talk," freshman Erica Brown said while talking to Chelasea Aiken.

Teacher Of The Year

Mr. John Merritt

By: Jamie Roberts

Kindness, compassion, dedication, and patience are just a few qualities that earned Mr. Merritt the title of Kellam's teacher of the year. After being selected as one of the districts top eleven teachers observed, Mr. Merritt went on to place in the top five overall. "Seeing eight people waltz into my class while I was teaching didn't produce the most natural of reactions. But my class handled it with style and panache. I was honored enough to be Kellam's teacher of the year, but to be one of the top five teachers in the city was unfathomable," said Mr. Merritt.

Interesting

Past Times

"On weekends I play polo. It's kind of like extreme croquet. It is actually a very difficult sport that has taken me years to master," said P.E. teacher Kerri Land.

By: Jamie Roberts

"I'm a teacher Monday through Friday and I'm an actor on the weekends," said Mr. Crute.

"Most of my spare time is spent with my family or the coaches. The football coaches here at Kellam, including my brother who is on the staff are like an extended family. My son and daughter call all the coaches on the staff "Uncle." Coach Neas is the Godfather of my son. Outside of school, there is a good chance that I will be with my wife, my son, my daughter, or one or some of the coaches on the staff here. I consider myself lucky to work with a group of guys that are not only good football coaches but great friends to my whole family," said coach Chris DeWitt.

"I like having the kids here at school with me. I don't see them much during the day, but it's nice knowing I am here if they need me. Also, I have really enjoyed the time with them on the ride in and the ride home. Having three here this year has been a little hectic in coordinating schedules," said Mrs. Jennifer Felix standing between her sons. From the left to the right, senior Vincent, Mrs. Jennifer Felix, freshman Joey, and junior Tony.

"Having a freshman and a senior in the same school that I teach in is lots of fun. I can do the beginning and the end at the same time," said Mrs. Janis Murphy standing between senior Erin Crouch, left, and freshman Lindsey Crouch, right.

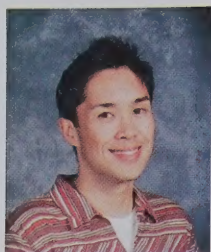

"Having both parents teaching at the same school I go to is good in some ways. I have a few benefits. One is that teachers don't ask me for my planner all the time, since they know who I am," explained freshman Alexis Rowan pictured standing next to her mother, Mrs. Pat Rowan.

"Kellam is our home away from home, where we both march to the beat of a different drummer," said Mrs. Roberta Peters standing with her son Seth, junior.

Ring Dance

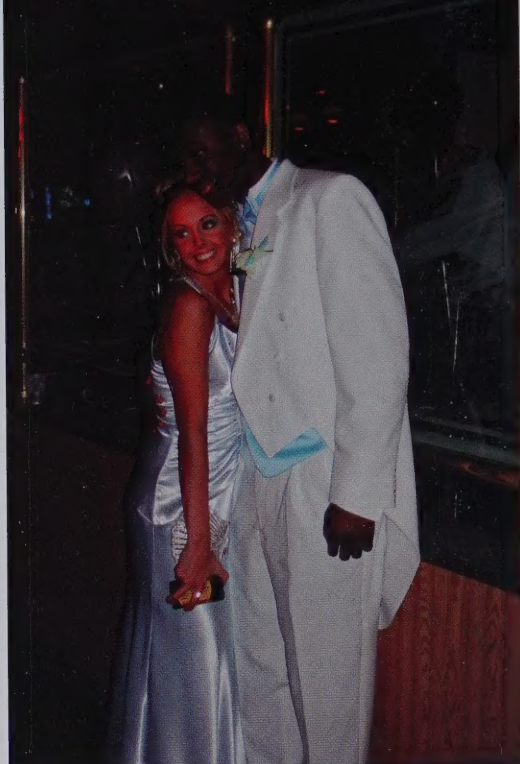

Juniors Take Time to Shine

By: Ms. Sears and Christy Keays

Whispering Secrets

As the music was playing, juniors Ryan Nottingham and Hannah Seda whispered into each other ears. Who knows what was said?

Smile for the Picture

With cameras flashing all night, Norman Hassell and Carlie Mounce certainly saw the lights while posing for pictures.

Slow Dance

Taking a step away from the crowd, Billy Graseale and Melissa Williams, both juniors, dance to "My Girl".

Good Friends

Many people take breaks from dancing like friends Nicole Pattullo and Robert Scott.

Party Girls

At Ring Dance, joking around with your girlfriends is the best thing - especially for juniors Carla Ketterman, Lauren Clark, and Kaitlin Boggi.

Best Friends

The facial expressions of best friends Christy Keays, Caitlin Pasko, and Hannah Seda show what a wonderful time they were having.

Family Bonds

Brother and sister pair Christian White and Linnea White pose together after dancing with their dates.

Taking a Break

Taking a break from dancing, Edward Flowers took time to play some pool.

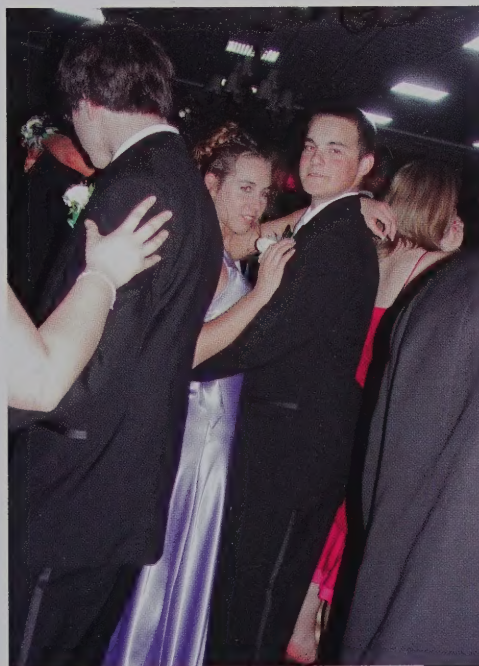

Get Together

Waiting with excitement for their limo to arrive, Charlotte Allen, Katie Schleyer, Lauren Mackechine, Jessica Quattrini and Ginny Wood pose for the last picture before the dance.

Putting the Moves on

While waiting in line to grab a brownie, David Lottman takes time to work his moves on Corey Roan.

Get down on it

While dancing to their favorite music, Christina Bickel and Kyle Kelly glance around at their classmates.

Chills and Thrills

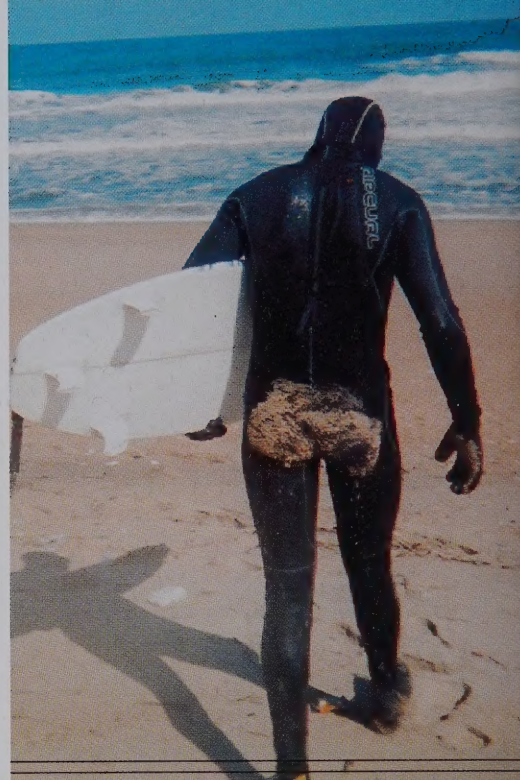

By: Ginny Wood

Beating the Winter Blues

Jamaican Getaway

Soaking up the sun, sophomore Kelly Kemick relaxes on her family vacation to Jamaica during Christmas break drinking from a coconut shell.

The Winter Surf

Snow Spills

Hitting the slopes on a midwinter trip to Cleveland, Ohio, freshman Evie Burwell took a dive on the slopes.

Dining out

"My girlfriends and I had a lot of fun eating out this winter break." Juniors Shannon Owens, Caitlin Pasko, Christy Keays and freshmen Kendall Stuart all had a blast.

Getting in the Christmas Spirit

Trimming the tree, freshmen Brittney Bartley and Mallory Goff stand in front of their hard work.

The worst part about Kellam in the winter?

Walking in the tundra to get to the library during study block! Stopping to say hello, juniors Lauren Mackechnie and Kim O'Connor multi-task by smiling and shivering at the same time.

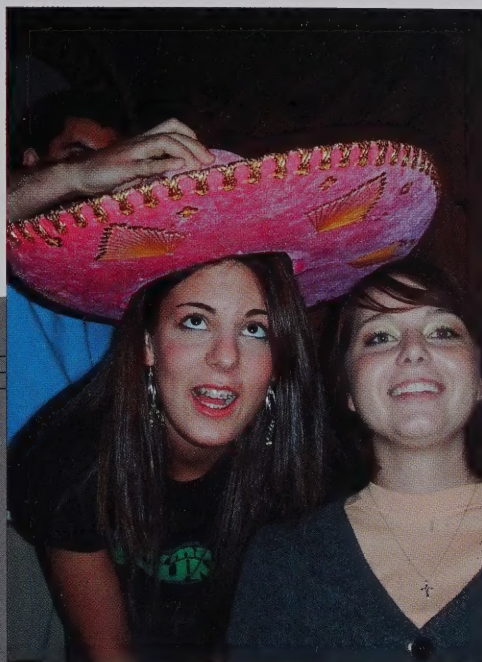

Grabbing big air!!!

On a snowboarding trip to Vermont, senior Billy Albert takes a jump on the advanced slopes.

Spicing up the Cold

"For my February birthday, we decided to spice up our lives with a little Mexican flavor, and set the mood with some salsa dancing wearing the birthday sombrero at El Tapitio," said junior Jessica Quattrini along side of junior Caitlin Smith.

"It was the best birthday ever!"

Not to be confused with Pimp my Ride, senior Jaime Markert stands in front of this luxury vehicle during Vintage Weekend on her winter trip to Key Largo. This trip was a gift from her parents for her eighteenth birthday.

Teachers with Lives???

English and Journalism teacher Mrs. Wellens takes a time out from her day on the slopes. Her winter vacation to Buck Hill, Minnesota with her husband and a cousin was a relaxing break from school.

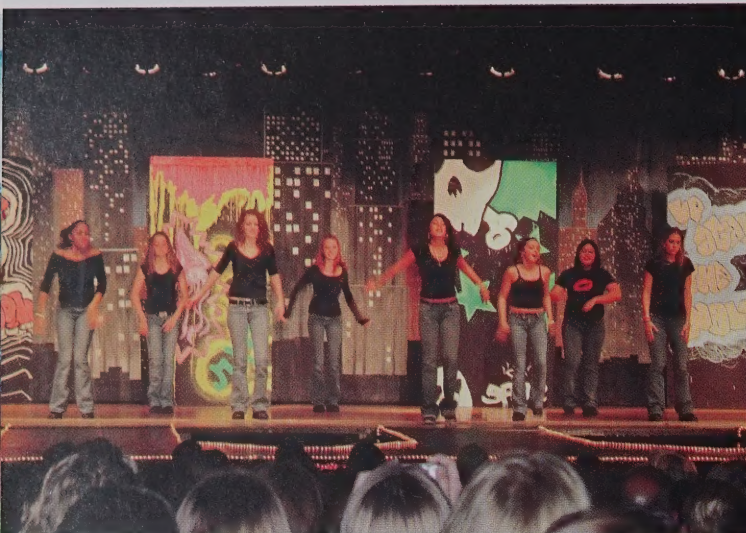

Why Rollerblade at Kellam in the Winter?

"Because my house is boring!" said Senior Adam Langhorne who rollerbladed from his house in Holland Woods to Kellam after school.

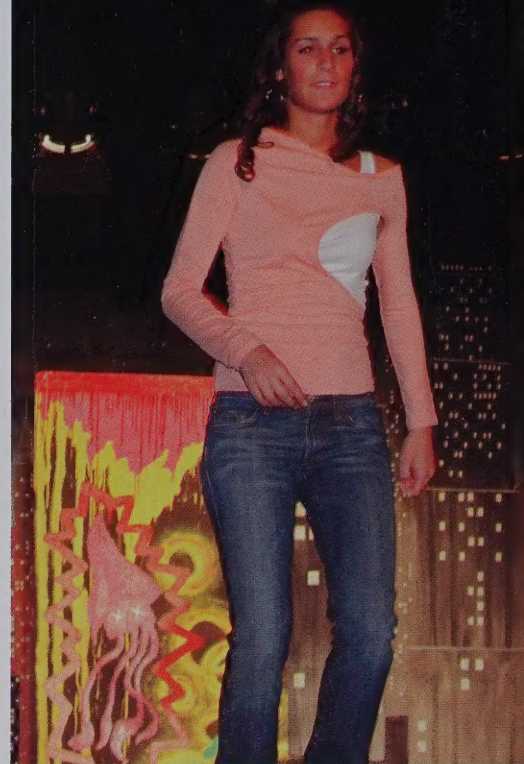

Fashion was Smashin'

Sounds and Style of Kellam's Fashion Students

By: Christy Keays

While dancing on stage, Katie Nosal, senior, did her one two step to recording star Ciara's music.

Announcers C.J. Mellides, junior, and Ryan Massey, senior, concentrated on calling out the door prizes for the evening.

Many people got invites to participate in the evening including this young lady during one of the beach scenes.

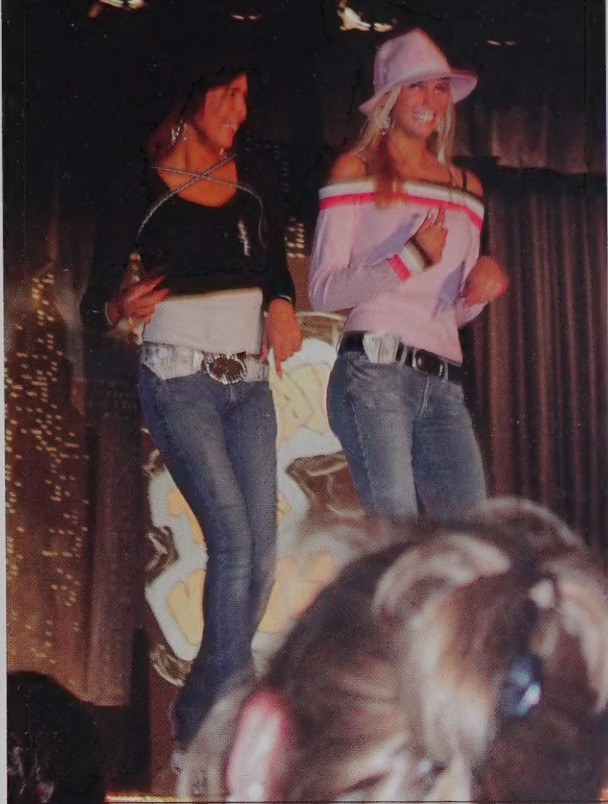

Stopping on stage during her walk out Jessica Quattrini, junior, posed with one last pose.

Doing the tootsie roll, Grace McGee and Jessica Quattrini, both juniors, were able to bring back old school dance moves.

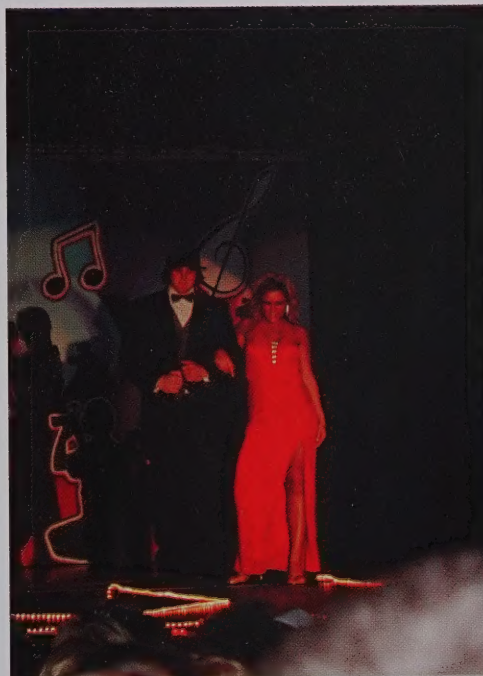

The opening act of the evening had the advanced fashion students and males breaking it down in formal wear.

By shaking their shoulders to the beat, Rachel Brann and Megan Salmons got up close and personal with the audience during their walk-outs for their hip hop scene.

Participating in the fashion show for their last time, seniors Katie Nosal, Angelica Camponames, and Carece Carinci all walked out together.

One of the first couples to grace the stage for the evening was Danielle Mitchell and Dylan Townsend, both seniors.

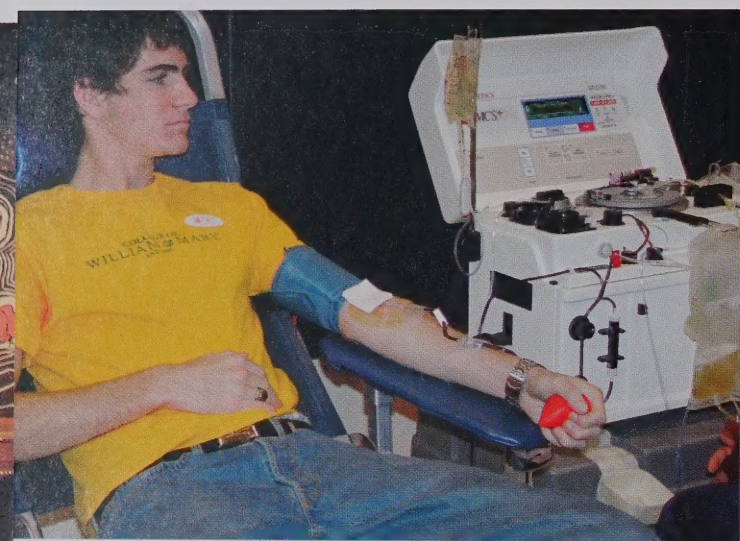

During one of the couples scenes of the evening Martin Deatley and Carece Carinci both completed their walk outs to the stage.

Blood Drive

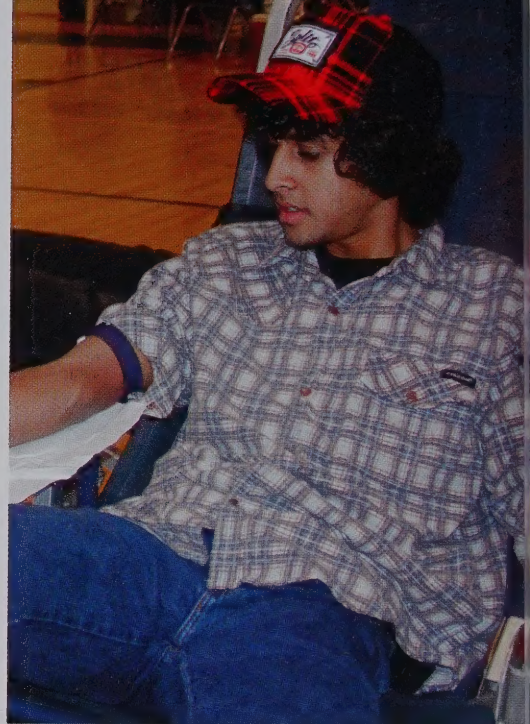

Strong and surly or weak and girly?

By: Taryn Smith

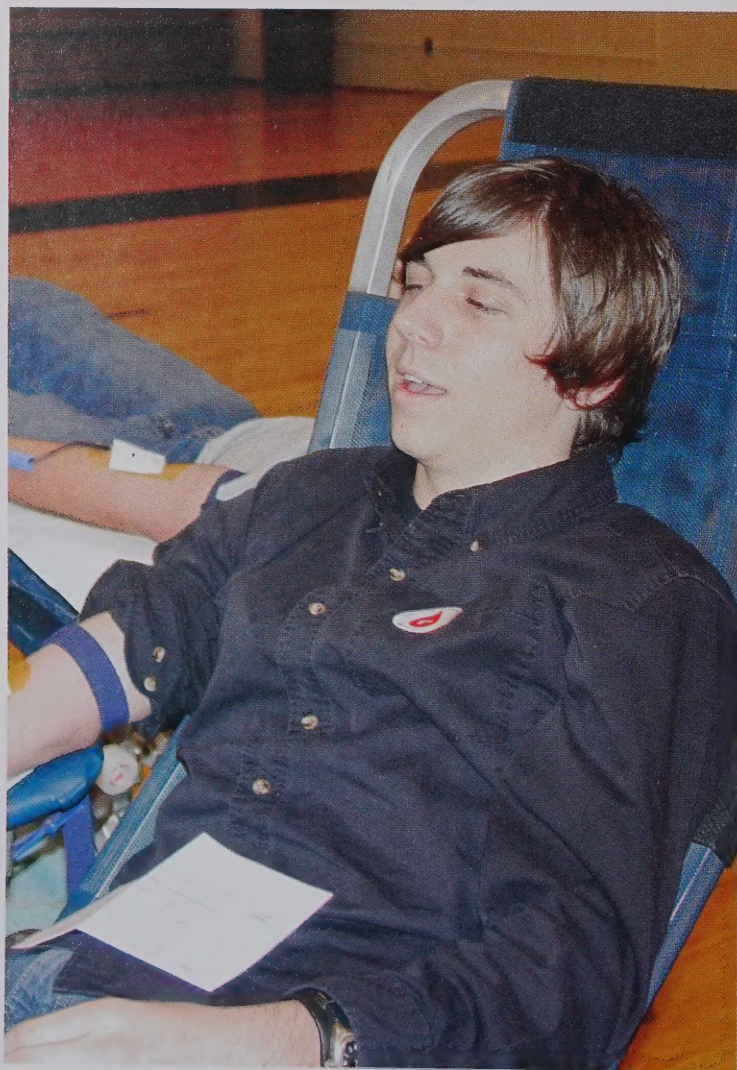

Mr. "Most Involved"

Happy to donate blood for a worthy cause, senior Ross Summerell sits patiently in his chair.

Deep Thought

"Yeah, well, I gave blood just because . . . I did, I did do it," laughed senior, Vincent Lucena.

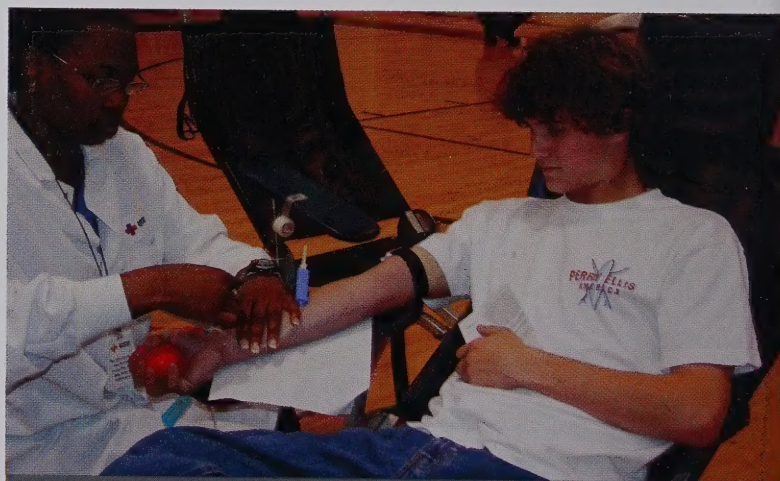

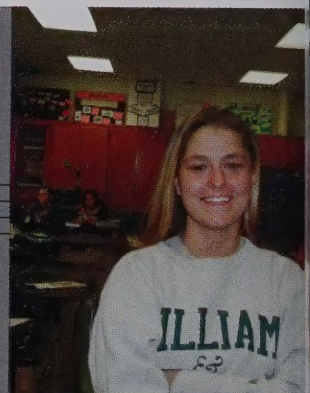

OUCH, Am I Done Yet?

Not afraid to show some emotion, senior Dustin Proehl, winces as the needle goes into his arm.

Good Samaritan

"[Giving blood] made me feel important," said senior, Stefanie Massetti. "I felt like my blood was saving someone's life."

Weak in the Knees

"I have to admit I felt a little woozy," commented senior Neal Nosay about giving blood.

World War II Days

Blast From The Past

By: Kate Daniels

Pride Of The Past And Present

Every year Mr. Christman takes a trip to the past to bring a bit of history to Kellam High. He is able to look on with pride as the students get a true learning experience.

Restoring The Past

This authentic German Jeep, with a dedicated restorer, shows the students just what the war consisted of, at least when it came to vehicles. Students were even more interested when it was up and driving around the courtyard.

Reenactors Mingle with Students

World War II reenactors display genuine WWII artifacts, while students ask questions and listen to stories and facts from different wars.

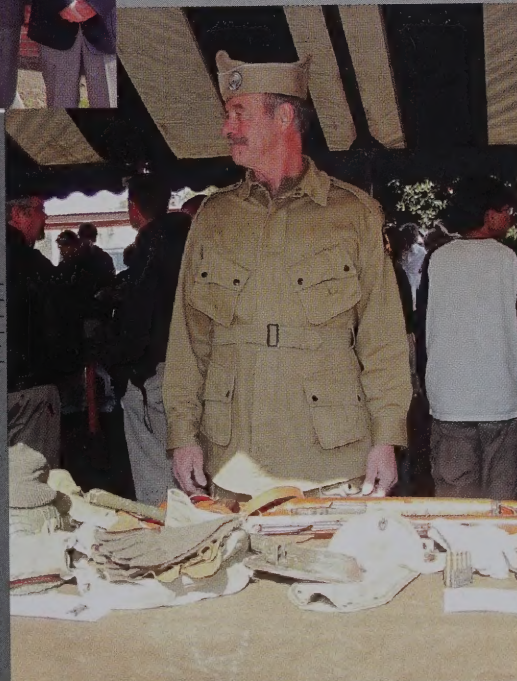

Holocaust Horror Stories

As he displays his collection of Holocaust artifacts, Chris Divine shares with Kellam students the tragic events and stories of

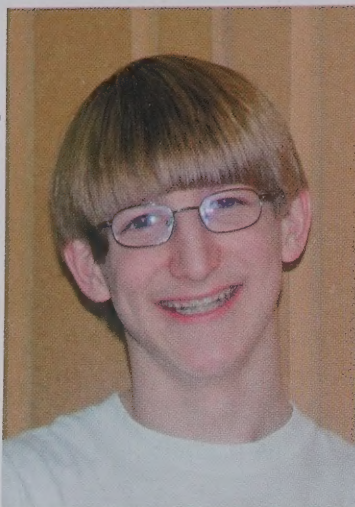

Encountering Heros

Close to a dozen World War II veterans honor Kellam with their presence on this special day. Students are made more aware of the all the wars by listening to stories and experiences that are shared by the veterans.

Calm Before The Storm

A Marine waits for the next batch of students to come to the exhibit. Students swarm around the tables asking questions and leaving with valuable information.

Tragic Tsunami

By: Raquel

"When I found out what happened, I was automatically overwhelmed. All I could say was, WOW. That is so terrible, how could that happen? That's only the stuff you hear about in movies," said sophomore Brent Wadzita.

The tsunami swept through parts of Indonesia destroying everything in its path. The only things left behind were scraps of metal and wood.

Numerous people came to help after the tsunami hit, including many Red Cross workers.

Many children were affected by the tsunami and had no homes to return to.

First Thoughts

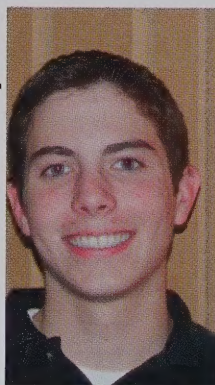

"When I first heard about the tsunami, I thought about all those people who were just relaxing and living their lives not knowing that their lives were going to be taken," said sophomore Katelyn Nelson.

A tsunami survivor embraces her baby at a relief camp in Southern India.

A tsunami victim mourns over the loss of her child.

Helping Hands

"When I heard about the tsunami, my initial reaction was, 'How can I help?'" junior C.J. Mellides said.

One of many Red Cross employees is working to help Southeast Asia cope with the damage.

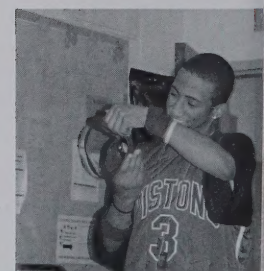

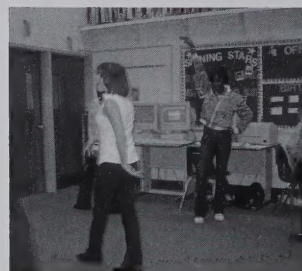

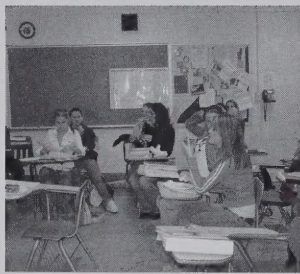

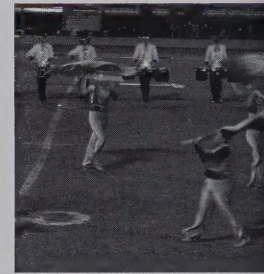

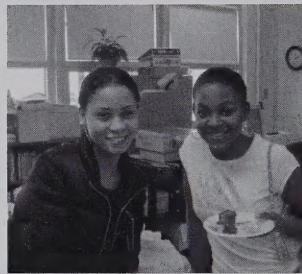

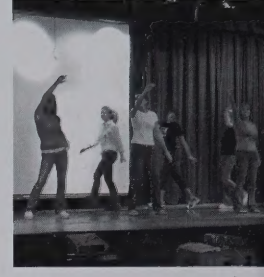

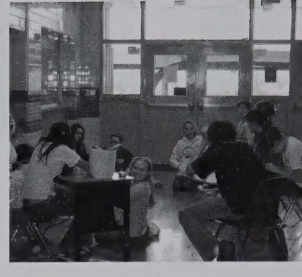

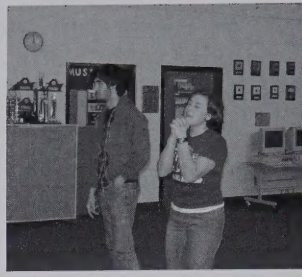

Kellam's performing arts department hosted a relief concert that raised over $10,000 for UNICEF.

Several U.S. Navy personnel help wounded victims into a helicopter.

Can't Get Enough of the Theatre

By Danielle Kervahn

Get Smart

"Get Smart," drama's fall show, is a play adapted from an old 70's sitcom. Pictured from left to right are Jay Douglas, junior; Joe Attwood, senior; Alex Gerber, senior; and Hannah Holtum, junior.

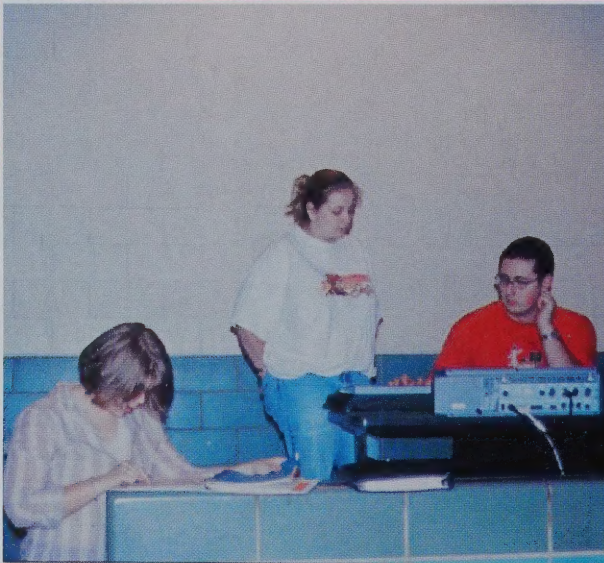

Candace Scanlon, Drama Club President

"These wrinkles are from overexaggerated, fraudulent expressions poured on my tired face."

Mrs. Smith, Advisor/Director

"I like teaching because it gives me the opportunity to work with many different students with various talents and interests. There is a place for everyone in the theatre."

Behind the Scenes

"Get Smart" assistant director, junior Keri O'Brian, checks off her list of responsibilities, while senior Andrew Lassen instructs junior Kellye Cunningham on operating the light board.

Figuring out the Clues

Maxwell Smart, played by senior Joe Attwood, and Agent 99 played by senior Candace Scanlon, were key characters in the comedy.

Techies

Top: No cult here! These students in black are the operators behind the curtains who keep the show running smoothly.

LEFT: Several times a year drama club holds "Kid's Kamp" to raise funds for upcoming shows.

In this scene of "Get Smart," six "dumb blondes" were tricked by the evil organization known as KAOS. From left: Remy Kervahn, freshman; Stephanie Hull, sophomore; Jessica Abbott, sophomore; Lindsey Wilson, junior; Kellye Cunningham, junior; and Nikki Brinn, sophomore.

Top: Kids Kamp, drama club's fundraiser, would not be the same if it wasn't for senior Kelly Kreis' large amount of work in coordinating the 5 and 6 year-old age group for several of the camps.

BELOW: After many hours of labor, the publicity crew finished their hand-made float which promoted their play "Get Smart" in the Homecoming parade.

After School Rehearsals

Rehearsals for one-acts can take place anywhere there is room, even in hallways after school. During the winter, four one-act plays took place after school.

Small Actors

Top: Every year Kellam competes in the Beach District One-Act Play festival. This year, the one-act which was competed in was called "Small Actors" and was directed by junior Keri O'Brien. Pictured here is sophomore Brooke German and seniors Candace Scanlon and Matt Vogel.

Beach Music Games

The Kellam Marching Knights take part in many competitions, including the Beach Music Games which took place at the Sportsplex.

Mr. Ransome, Band Director

"The conclusion of this school year will be tough because I have to say good-bye to my seniors that were freshmen my first year of teaching at Kellam. I am so fortunate to have had the experience of working with such a fine group of musicians."

Facing the Music

Pit Captain, senior Brett Abrams, makes sure he hits the right notes on the marimba.

Award-winning Performances

The Kellam Marching Knights were the Atlantic Coast Championship's Bronze Metal Finalists, and the Wind Ensemble received a superior rating at the District II Concert Band Festival.

Kellam Color Guard 2004-2005

Marching Flutist

"Marching band is definitely not for the weak, especially with band camp over the summer," said freshman Courtney Simor.

After being given an assignment to perform an original song idea, junior Jessie Simmons performed her Mixed Chorus skit.

With just minutes before the opening act the Student Director, junior Christy Keays, gets the ladies ready for the performance.

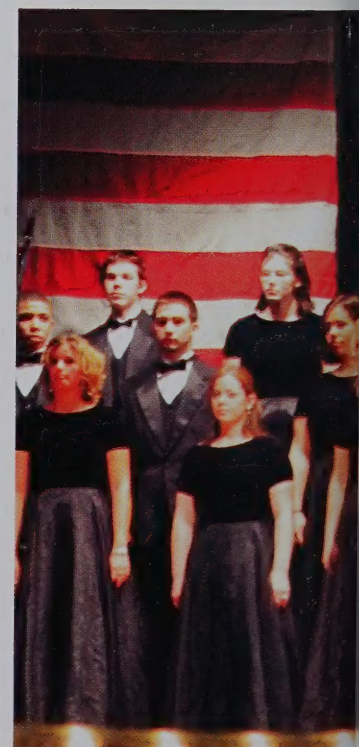

Performers Sarah Bowling and Sara Stalénaker, seniors, sang at the Tsunami Relief Concert to encourage the community to donate money.

One of the Singling Lady Knight's best routines, this quartet of seniors Annie Allen, Casey Doyle, juniors Brandy Green, and foreign exchange student Hannah Holtman steals the show.

Students of the choir group Madrigals sing Simon and Garfunkel's "Like a Bridge Over Troubled Water" at the Tsunami Relief Benefit Concert.

Journalism

The Roundtable

By: Jamie Roberts

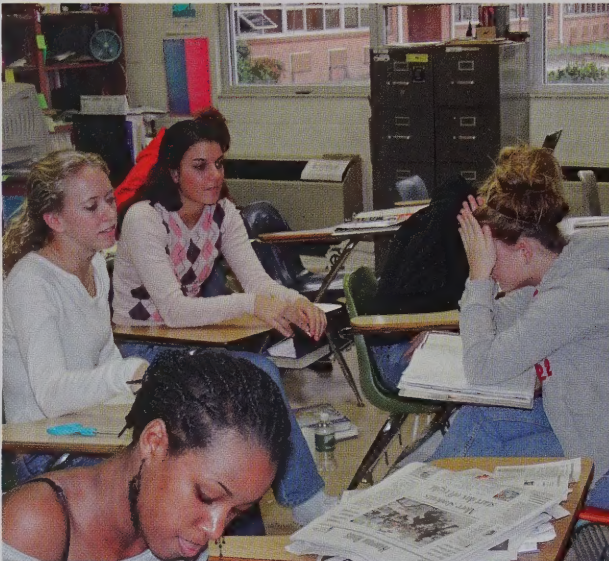

Computer Crazy

Facts are imperative to well written articles, and the best way to get them is by researching. Once journalists Shannon Rose, Jamie Roberts, Jake Sims, Hilary Magateaux, and Zach Jones receive their assignments, they began working on the computers.

Pizza Party

While the class celebrates their hard work, juniors Krissy Martin and Kristie Cagliostro eat their pizza in a more creative way than the rest.

Bound for Brainstorming

Above: The story topic is easily one of the most important things in journalism. With a new publication about to come out, senior Andrea West, junior Lauren Mackechnie, and senior Danielle Mitchell brainstorm for ideas.

Above RIGHT: "It was fun having one of my stories on the front page of the school newspaper. Especially because I hope to become a journalist one day," said junior Linnea White while typing her latest article.

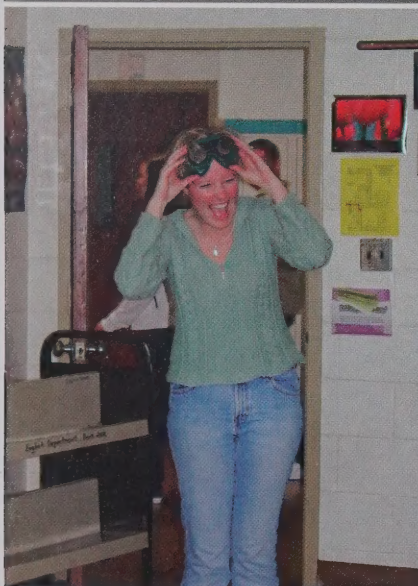

R&R Reporter Style

Above: With conferences all morning in Atlanta, sophomores Hilary Magateaux, Jamie Roberts, Zach Jones, and senior Shauna Belli went sightseeing to the Coke Factory. "Going to Atlanta proved to be very helpful. The workshops there taught me a lot of new things, and on top of that I made a bunch of new friends," said Hilary.

LEFT: At an airport in Atlanta, junior Tim Urbanek and senior Shauna Belli relax after spending the weekend in conference.

Wobbly Walker

On distribution day, Officer Johnson brought in intoxication simulation goggles to show students what it was like to see through the eyes of a drunk person. After much conjolling, journalism adviser Mrs. Wellens finally gave in and tried out the goggles.

Roundtable Reporters

Hard at work to meet the deadline, juniors Christy Keays, Hannah Seda, and sophomore Sam Thompson proofread articles for errors.

SCA

By: Kate Daniels

The next dates are added to the SCA calendar by junior Katie Garrison.

Once the finishing touches are made on the poster by sophomore Shannon Rose, it's taken and placed on Kellam's walls for all to see.

RIGHT: Even after being tired of school work, SCA members sophomores Katie Keane, Dane Summerell, and junior William Clark work feverently on their next project while getting some rest time in by relaxing on the couch in student activities.

The days for SCA meetings are planned and posted on a wall-sized calendar. Keeping things organized, Ross Summerell updates the calendar.

During a SCA study block, sophomore Dane Summerell breaks out the paper as he prepares to make a poster that will advertise what is coming up next in the year.

The SCA is hard at work as sophomore Jenni Lyman begins on her next project.

Foreign Language

French Delicacies

"We're always having fun and laughing about something French-ish," said sophomore Julianna Battenfield, who enjoys tasting assortments of French cheese, baguettes, and fondue.

Culture Clashes

By Kathleen McConnell

Chips, Dip, and Cheese

Food plays an important role in many cultures. Juniors Jaclyn McDonald, Mary Heckel, and Carlie Mounce laugh while tasting a sample of French cheeses.

Food around the world

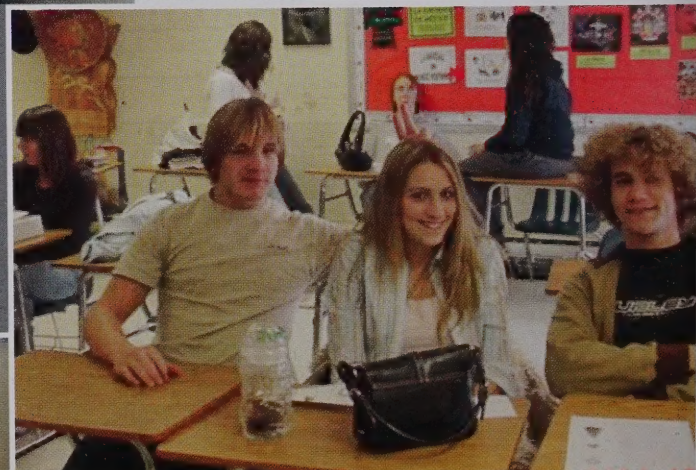

French club member Rachel Brann, a junior, prepares a snack of different types of French cheese.

Picture Perfect

TOP: "The food here is muy delicioso!" said freshmen Spanish club members Keri Cullen, Danielle Sanchez, and Ashleigh Smith.

TOP RIGHT: Waiting patiently for food, sophomores Monica McChesney, Courtney Thompson, and Caitie Forbes chat about French traditions.

"Learning the tango and cumbia was my favorite part of Spanish club," said sophomore Amanda Sekerak as she took a second to rest after dancing.

Traditional Food and Parties

TOP: The Day of the Dead or Halloween is celebrated in many Spanish-speaking countries. Sophomores Nick Pfeufer, Jamie Tomik, and junior Miller plan for an upcoming Day of the Dead party.

Diplomacy of the Third Kind: Model United Nations

by: Ginny Wood

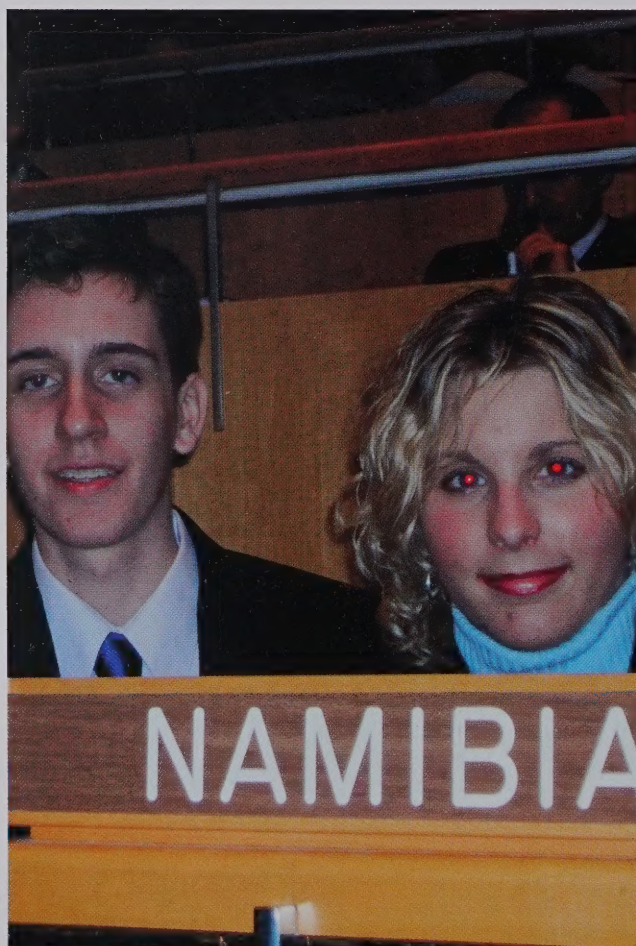

Hotel lodging for Model UN Delegates was a perk of the conferences. Seniors Jill Hawver, Desiree Aaron, Jaime Markert, and junior Ginny Wood impatiently wait for the bus to come and take them home.

Kellam delegates stood in awe as they got to see the real United Nations building in New York City during their early spring trip.

Seniors Rae Garringer and Allie Huck sit as they wait for the Model United Nations Conference fun to unfold. The greatest part of these conferences was getting to know other teens during down time.

Sophomore Geoff Spivey and Senior Chrissy Shelton teamed up as they represented the delegates from Namibia. Committees were notorious for being boring as they lasted up to 4 hours long!

Being called upon by his Dias to speak, senior Jamelle Bouie gives a speech from his country's perspective. Speeches were anywhere from seconds to 5 minutes long.

Dance Team

"Boogie Knights"

By Linnea White and Sarah Cossell

During a halftime show, senior Nikki Spano dances like a professional and awes the crowd. The dance team's school spirit and enthusiasm excites the crowd as well as the team.

The team takes the court during a halftime show, showing the crowd a spectacle of in sync dance moves. They wow the crowd with their talents and excite the crowd with their energy.

With a twist and a swish of her skirt, sophomore Whitney Sellers smiles her way through a routine, adding to her teammates' lively spirits.

Giving the crowd a taste of the hip-hop culture, junior Jimmy Roberson and sophomore Santwon McCray dance with the style of both Michael Jackson and Usher.

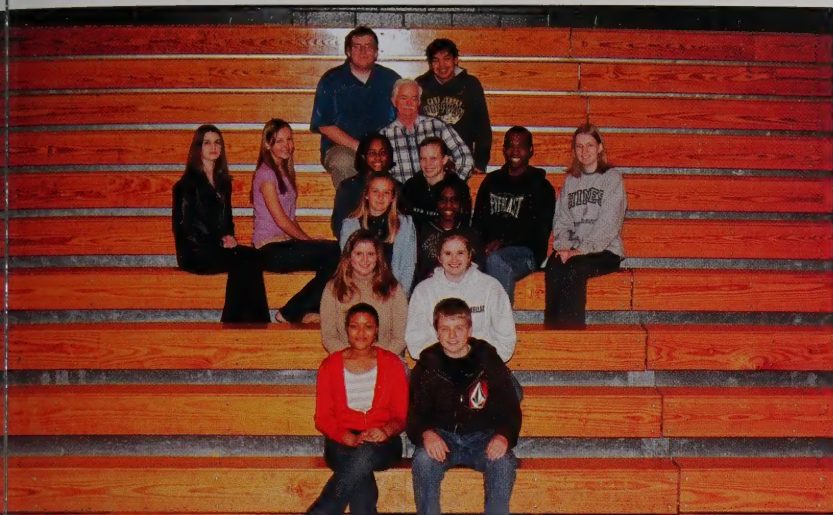

Practicing their final dance pose, the team is all smiles.

Leading the team in a routine, senior Anjelica Campomines demonstrates her natural feel for hip-hop dancing. Her complicated choreography gives the team popularity among Kellam's students.

Step

"To Change the world one beat at a time!"

By Yolanda Spellman

It's simply natural

Practice is taken seriously by team members Jessica Keys and Micaela Harris, as they put their all into mastering their moves.

Step is in the Soul

Sweat and blood go into every routine Rashonda Ogletree performs. She knows what it takes to be number one.

The Muses of Dance

When the beat dropped, nothing could stop freshmen Ashley Mayers and Angelica Cordero from giving it all they had.

Divas of Rhythm

Rhythm has never been a problem for step team members sophomores Tiffany Ferebee and Morgan Sadler and freshman Ashley Mayers. Here they strike a pose and prepare to begin their new dance routine.

Knights For Christ

By: Raquel Monell

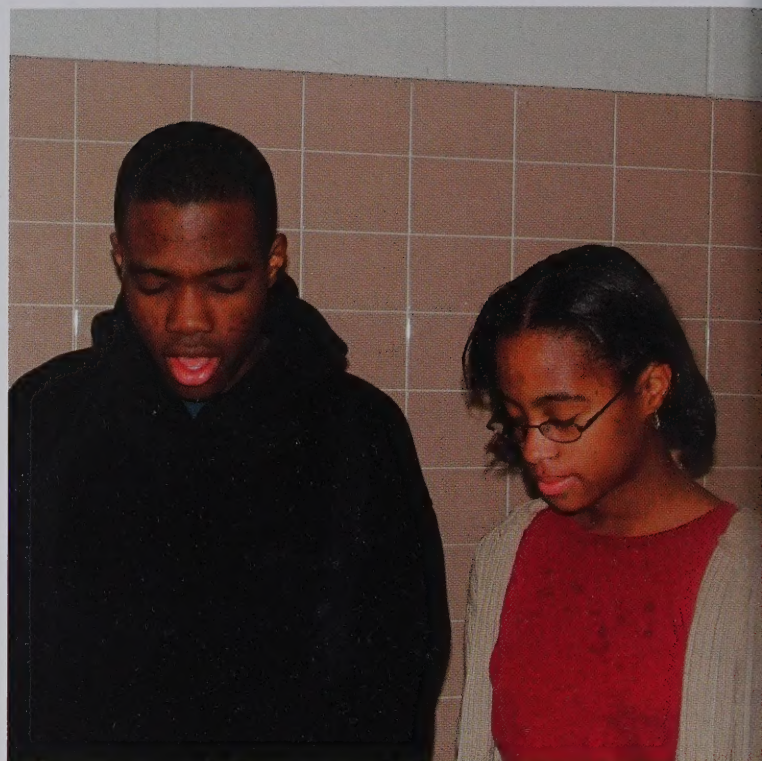

Pray.Pray.Pray

Knights for Christ members always start their day off with a good morning prayer. Sophomore Malerie Parenteau and freshman Rebecca Dideum bow their heads in silent reflection.

Praying for each Other

Siblings Thomas Starchia, junior, and Tonesia Starchia, freshman, said their day goes better knowing that someone from KFC has taken the time to pray for them.

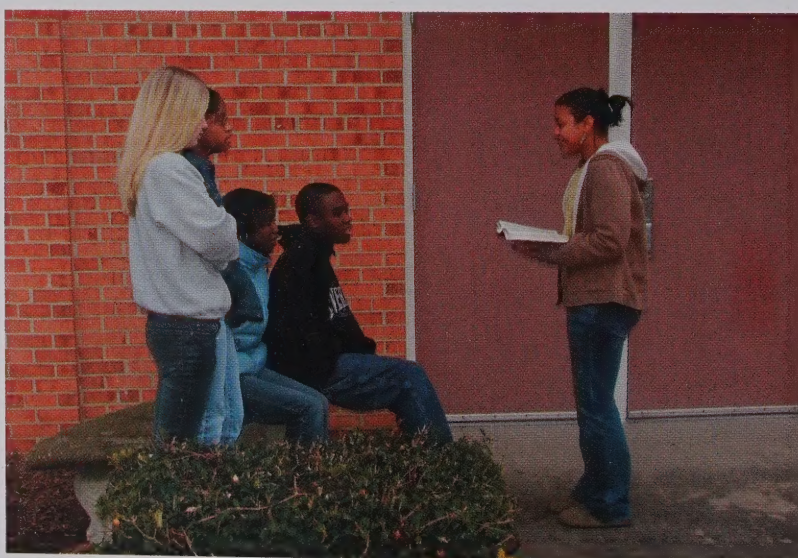

Gather around the good stuff

At a Knights for Christ meeting, junior Vanessa Dorbin, junior Morgan Smith, freshman Jonathan Mateer, senior Anthony Carino, and senior Amy Hines all lean in to hear the "Good News".

Silly Goose

"I love the way the whole group accepts me for me, no matter how silly I am," said junior Vanessa Dorbin while snacking on ice cream at a meeting.

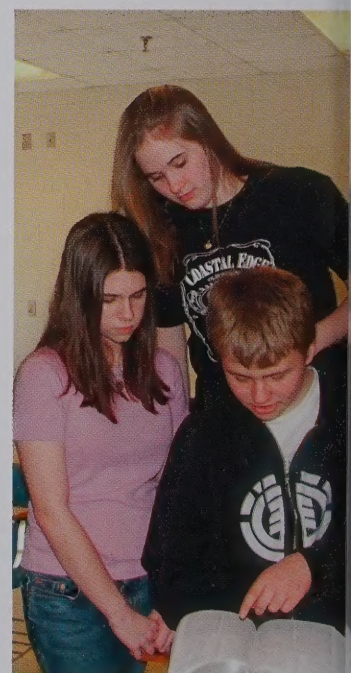

Spreading the Word

Knights for Christ has one of their weekly meetings on Thursday in the courtyard. Sophomore Raquel Monell leads the discussion as freshman Rebecca Dideum, freshman Tonesia Starchia, senior Mary Starchia and junior Thomas Starchia listen in.

Teaching the Word

"I feel so blessed to be given this opportunity to be president of Knights for Christ," said freshman Johnathan Mateer.

While making sure freshman yearbook member, Keri Cullen does her story correctly, juniors Hannah Seda and Christy Keays review her work.

Time for some Fun

Yearbook members do get to have some chances to take a break like Ring Dance for Christy Keays and Hannah Seda, both juniors.

We are barbie girls

While taking a break from working on the pending deadline, Editor in Chief Jamie Roberts, and staff members Hannah Seda, and Christy Keays become hypnotized by Madeline Sears' movie "The Princess and the Pauper."

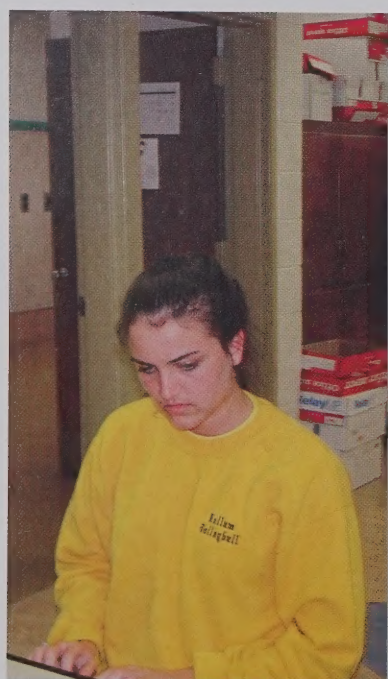

Working Together

Working together to get their story done before deadline, Nicole Almanzar, Linnea White, and Sarah Cossel, all juniors, were able to help one another.

Take time to notice the little things

While working on the computer, Charlotte Allen, junior, checks her work to make sure there are no errors.

With the click of a mouse

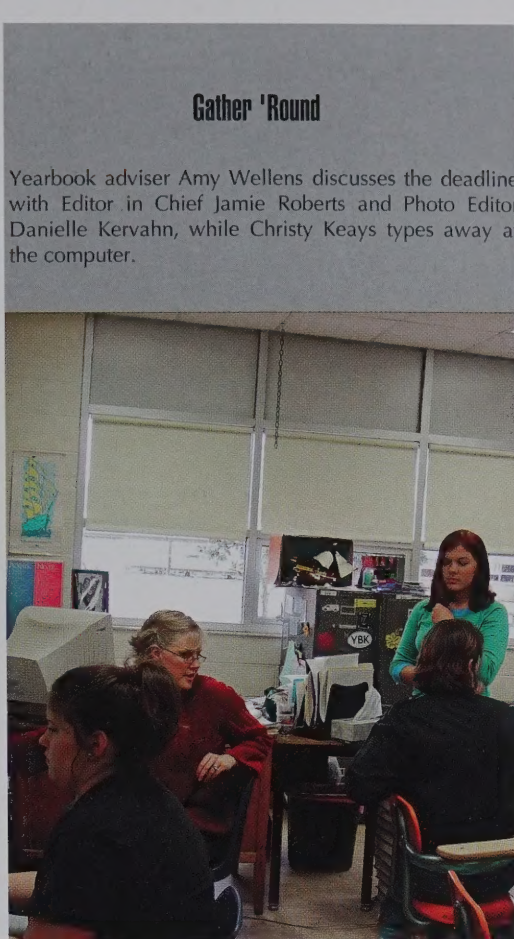

The invention of the computer makes sure that senior Jamie Riley got her work done on time.

Work Work Work

Trying to find inspiration for this year's book, Joya Sutton flips through the pages of the previous one.

Gather 'Round

Photo Geniuses

To make sure the photos are scanned correctly, juniors Danielle Kervahn and Ginny Wood are always willing to help.

Strike a Pose

After a long day's work, members Keri Cullen, Ashleigh Smith, Jamie Roberts, Christy Keays, and Hannah Seda share the love with adviser Robin Sears' daughter Madelyn.

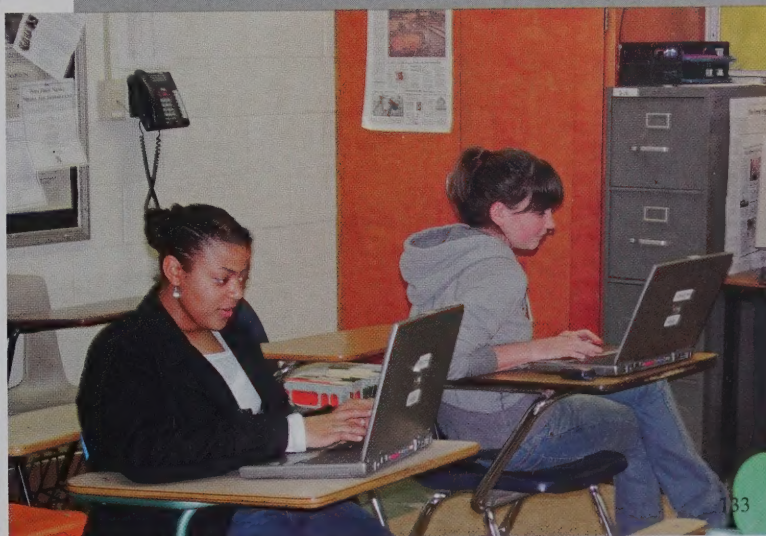

Zoom Zoom Zoom

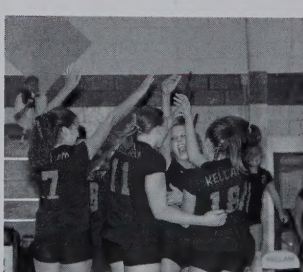

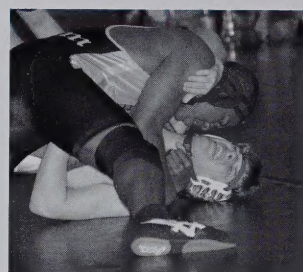

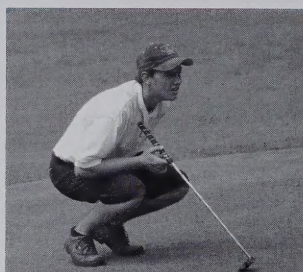

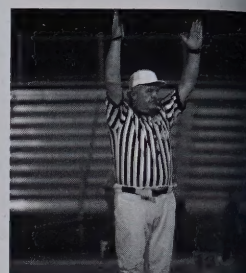

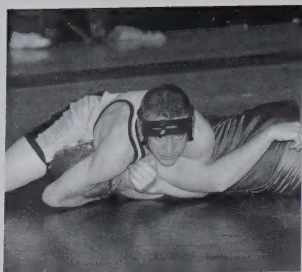

Using laptops, Raquel Monnell and Kathleen McConnell speed their way through finishing their pages.

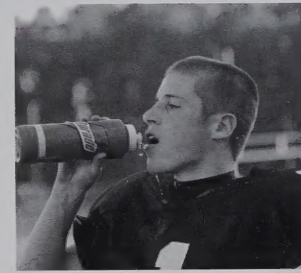

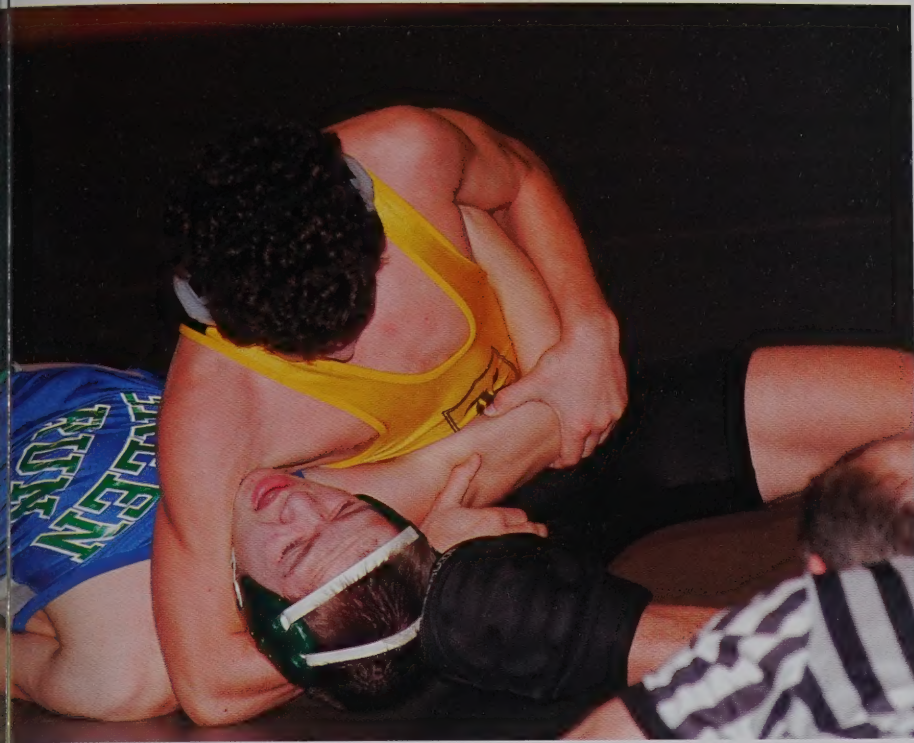

It's Gold!

Yearbook members Ashleigh Smith and Keri Cullen share a laugh because they have finally finished their deadline.

"Cheerleading this year was really fun. I enjoy goofing off and playing around with my teammates at practice and in between games," said freshman Bailey Jones.

Taking pride, sophomore Rosie Ortiz, starts the first cheer of the game.

"I've never been on such a dedicated sports team like this one. I love them," said Chelsea Webb, while standing next to fellow teammate Ashley Kukura, both sophomores.

As the course receives its final touches, senior Mitch Cooper and buddy, sophomore Daniel Stinnette, joke around before lining up at the starting line. "The faster you run the sooner you're done. PK for life," said Mitch.

BOTTOM RIGHT: As he comes closer to the finish line, junior Gary Dunnington uses an extra burst of energy to finish in record time.

"This was the first time ever that both a girl and a boy were individual district champs. Mitch Cooper was also fourth in state," said Coach Bernard.

In the Eastern Regional Tournament, the team placed third with the following individual placements:

103 Eric Olanowski 3rd
119 Johnny Olanowski 1st
125 Ryan Benzel 2nd
130 Clinton Szymanski 6th
275 Robert Nixon 2nd

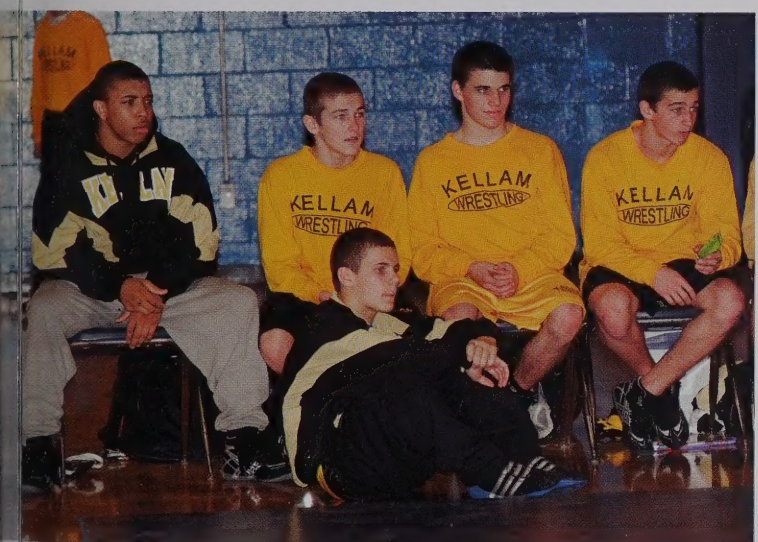

In the State Tournament, the team placed fourth with the following individual placements:

103 Eric Olanowski 2nd
119 Johnny Olanowski 1st
125 Ryan Benzel 4th

Once junior Clinton Szymanski gained control of the match and had his opponent pinned to the mat in a headlock, he waited as the referee counted down the remaining seconds until time ran out.

With his competitor trapped in a body scissor, sophomore Ryan Benzel locks his legs and holds on for the count.

Now teammates continue with their matches, junior David Hoggard, sophomores Stefan Malbon, Ryan Benzel, Chris Driver, and Andy Nagg await their turn to win yet another title.

Practice makes perfect, and it seems this is the only thing on sophomore Ashley Kukura's mind as she watches the ball.

All poise and grace, junior Corey Roan takes on the ball like a true Kellam warrior.

When a challenge comes her way, sophomore Ashely Kukura can't help but be aggressive.

"Unity, chemistry, leadership, and work ethic second to none will be keys to a successful season," said Coach Hurdle.

LEFT: With eyes on the goal, senior Jordan Holway goes for the ball with opponents on her heels.

BELOW: For some it takes years to become so good, but when junior Crystal Johnston hits the ball in mid air, she makes winning look easy.

LEFT: Precision is the name of the game here, as sophomore Kylie White steals the ball and propels it toward the goal.

The last thing on his mind is his girls failing, because Coach Mario Hurdle has nothing to worry about with this winning team.

Throwing the ball back into play from the sidelines, junior Corey Roan knows just who it needs to go to for victory.

High spirited, ready to go, and taking a few warm up laps around the field, the team is looking forward to the new and promising season ahead.

Making a diving save to protect his goal, sophomore John Markham, fine tones his skill.

Doing their team cheer, the boys get ready to take the field before their first game.

Retrieving one of the stray balls, freshman Kyle Millard walks out of a pit of mush at Kempsville High School. Despite conditions of the field, the team practices their possession skills.

Battling for possession, team captain sophomore Travis Harris and sweeper sophomore Travis Qualls move closer to the out of bounds line.

Staring hard at his practicing players, Coach Gutt is reminded that this is his last season as the coach for JV boys. He said, "I've seen everything there is to see in this game!"

It's not a question of whether or not freshman Caitlin Marshall will stop the ball with her skill in the game; it's only a matter of time.

BOTTOM RIGHT: When practice gets intense, freshmen Megan McConville, Megan Valentine, Kaylnne Dakin, and Toride Dierson are always there to take the heat.

For sophomore Catherine Grey and (grade) Christine Hutsko, practice is just as intense as the real thing, here the girls go head to head.

"During the course of the season, my goal for the team will be to learn individual responsibilities as well as what it takes to be a member of a team," said Coach Powers.

Junior Jason Taylor
"Everyone has worked really well together this year; we work hard to get the job done, but still have fun."

Junior Nate Akers
"The team is like a band of brothers, even though there are only three on the team."

Senior Ian Thomas
"We are a very strong team this year. The only team that can beat us is ourselves."

Sophomore Tyler Loftus
"The team is like one big family. Even if we're not out on the field playing, everyone is standing at the fence cheering our team on."

Concentrating on the ball, junior Brett Curl swings hard in order to score for the Knights.

Warming up is an important part of preparing for each game. In order to make sure he is stretched and ready to play, senior Josh Hawkins warms up in the bull pen.

Anticipating a line drive to third, junior Dory Fields intensely awaits his opportunity to make an out. Throwing hard, senior Ian Thomas demonstrates his ability to strike the other batters out.

After a pitch from the opposing team, junior Matt Moyer swings hard to crush the ball.

While warming up before the game, freshman Kelli Porter practices her catching skills. The softball team shows a lot of support for each other, including sophomores Stephanie Kemp, Kelly Kemick, and Tamara Griffin who stand in the dugout watching the rest of their team.

Bringing her arm back, freshman Amanda Tewksbury sets up for her throw.

While keeping her eyes on the ball, junior Anna Zitt runs back to line up her glove with the ball.

Making sure her glove stays close to the ground, sophomore Kelly Kemick catches the grounder coming at her.

"With Magon Paul and the potential of the rest of the team, the team can win the districts," said Coach Jones.

Shakespeare Festival

Celebrating the Elizabethan Era

By Taryn Smith

Holding Hands & Having Fun

Trying to keep a straight face, teachers Ms. Sarosdy and Ms. McCallister danced with students.

Welcome to the Festival

Being the announcer for all the participants and events in the festival was a tough task, but senior Lauren Tupman handled it with ease.

Take a Bow

During an outburst of applause, Ms. Campbell, accompanied by Mr. Daley, took a bow in acknowledgement of her hard work.

Dance Lessons

While dancing in the festival, senior Anna Harrington pulled Principal Biehl up from the audience to participate in the event.

Elizabethan Festivities

ABOVE: Singing in a melodious tune, Grace Bonsall, Desiree Aaron, Diana Fitzgerald, Jean Adler, Candace Scanlon, and Annie Allen provide soft background music for the festival.

RIGHT: Flower girl Madelyn Sears poses for the camera after participating in the staged Shakespearean wedding.

uring the wedding, senior Matt Abrams gave the bride, Sarah Glendon, away.

Here Comes the Bride

The AP Literature classes staged a fake Elizabethan wedding to close out their Shakespearean Festival. Acting minister Josh Sorey "married" seniors Thomas Baumgardner and Sarah Glendon.

Festival Bio

Ms. Cambell's AP Literature classes embarked on an extensive reading and analysis of four major Shakespearean tragedies. Upon completion of their readings, the students undertook the daunting task of recreating the Elizabethan era with an authentic Shakespearean Festival. The festival encompassed foods, a fashion show, singing, dramatic skits, and dancing.

Just Hanging Out

At the conclusion of the festival, seniors Chrissy Shelton, Beth Bailey, Nicole Browne, and Holly Brown take a moment to enjoy the celebration.

Down the Runway

Strutting their stuff through the Kellam library was easy for seniors Beth Bailey and Ross Summerell. "I enjoyed the festival," said Summerell. "It was fun being king for a day."

The Merriment Continues

ABOVE: Dancing continued throughout the day as AP Literature students pulled members of the audience up to participate in the celebration.

RIGHT: Flowergirls Madelyn Sears and Frances Felix walked out hand in hand to join the wedding festivities.

Seussical the Musical

Fine Arts Collaborate for the Spring Musical

By Danielle Kervahn

Long Hours Paid Off

The dancers of "Seussical", pictured here, worked many days after school to perfect their choreographed dance moves.

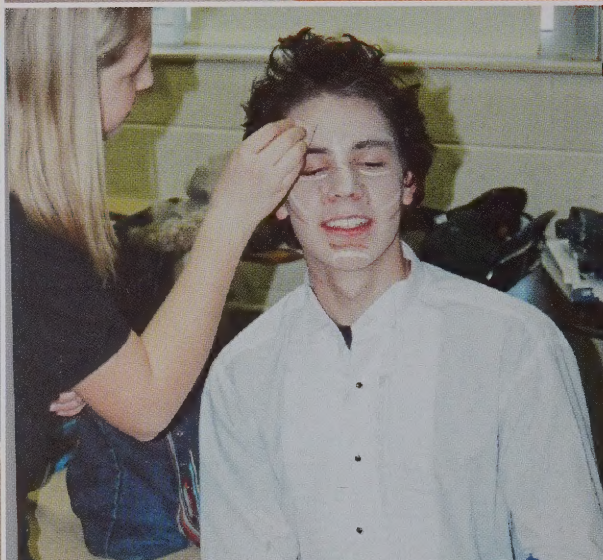

Gertrude McFuzz

"My favorite song in the show, "All for you," was such an amazing song to perform. I got to roll on the floor!" said senior Rachel Hummel.

Elle Bunn, 10

"It was such a great show because the cast and crew were amazing and very talented."

Stage Make-up and Hair

TOP: It takes a long time for all the cast to get their stage make-up on, so freshman Remy Kervahn lends a hand by putting on junior J. East's make-up.

TOP RIGHT: "I loved playing Maisy because it fit my personality so well," said junior Laura Macinski.

Keri O'Brian, 11

In addition to being a Who, Keri also designed and painted many scenery pieces used throughout the show.

The Bird Girls

TOP: The five bird girls pictured here from left are Jeannie Adler, senior; Jessie Butts, senior; Katie Clapp, freshman; Brooke German, sophomore; Karynne Purdy, sophomore.

LEFT: "Fit this year was a total blast; the music was really fun and our musicians are amazing," said junior Courtney Fuhrman who played the clarinet for the show.

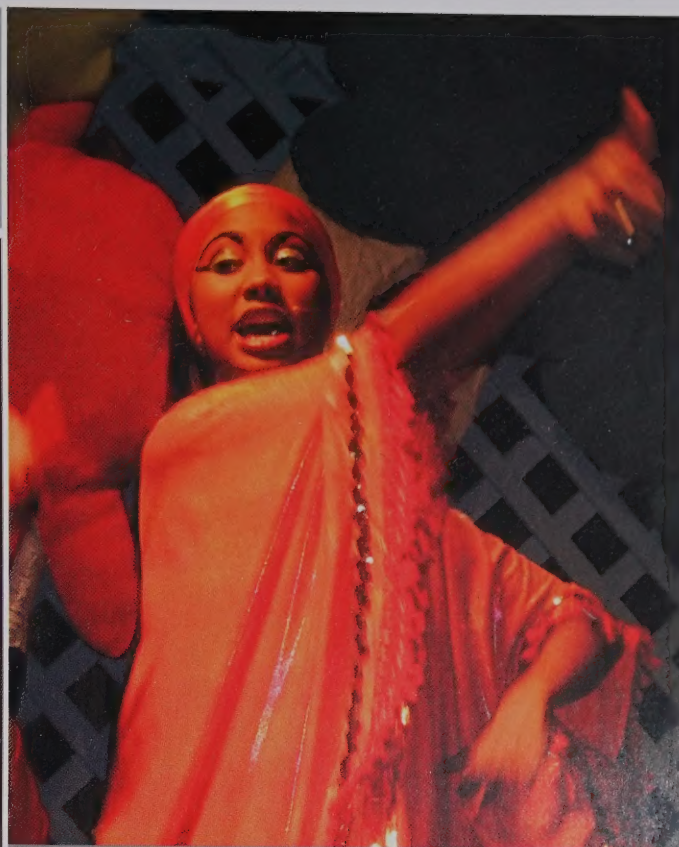

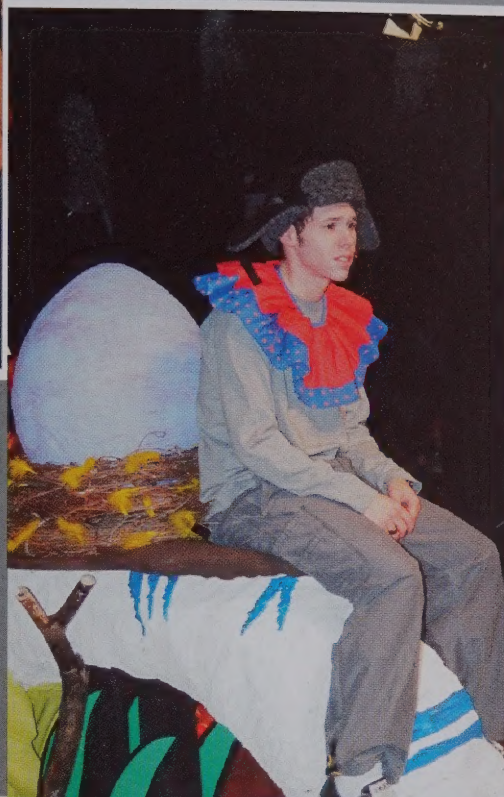

Wickersham Brothers

The Wickersham Brothers were three monkeys from the jungle that appeared throughout the show. From the left, junior Philip Merriman, junior Jimmy Robinson, and senior Joe Attwood caused the trouble in many scenes.

Horton the Elephant

Seussical the Musical covered over a dozen stories written by Dr. Seuss, one of which included the story of Horton the Elephant played by junior Jay Douglas.

The Sour Kangaroos

"It was awesome participating in my first chance as a lead role, and the part of the Sour Kangaroo really challenged my vocal chords," said senior Shante Curry. Right behind her was senior Candace Scanlon playing the part of the Baby Kangaroo.

ABOVE: Matinees were held during four school days, the elementary school students loved the "Circus McGirkus" scene, especially because of a dog who performed tricks on stage.

BELOW: Being a cadet was awesome; playing a little boy rocked!" said senior Catherine Kammer. All the cadets were played as girls, but disguised to look like boys.

All the Whos down in Whoville

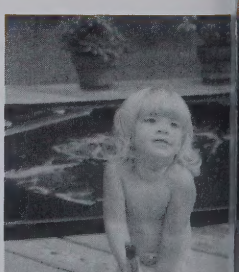

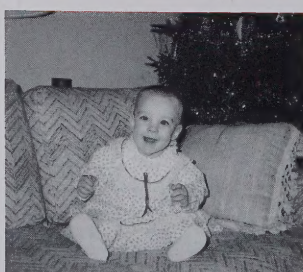

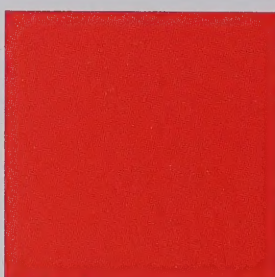

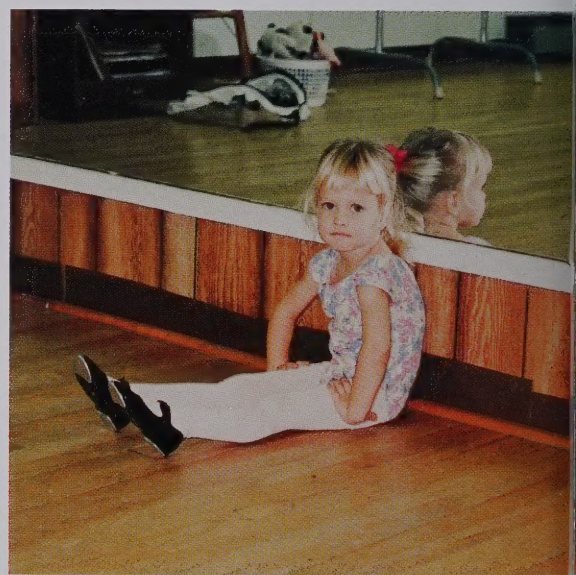

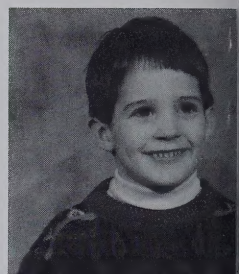

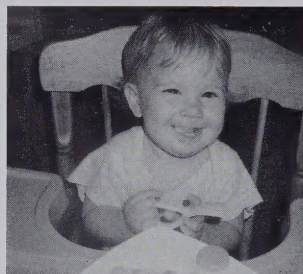

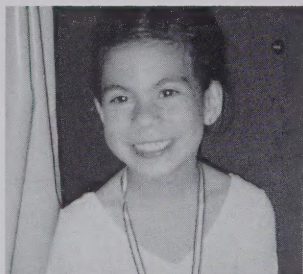

"Playing a boy in "Seussical" was not much different than playing a boy in "Oliver" two years ago, except this show was more fun!" said senior Sarah Bowling who played the part of Jojo. Along side her were the mayor and his wife, played by junior J. East and senior Sarah Stalnaker.

If

If integrity is measured
By strength of character,
Loyalty to friends,
Teamwork over selfishness,
You err and make amends.

If respect is measured
By responsibility and trust,
Honoring commitments,
Sacrifice and such.

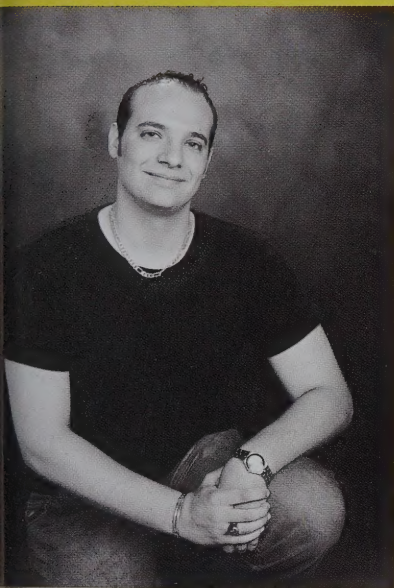

If wealth is measured
By God's gracious love and
Trying until you succeed,
Then you darling daughter,
ARE VERY RICH INDEED!

Never change who you really are, for you are a warm, kind and caring gentleman. We couldn't have asked for a more wonderful son and brother. We are proud of who you have become and hope your dreams take you far.
Love, Mom, Dad, Sean, Deanna, Luddy

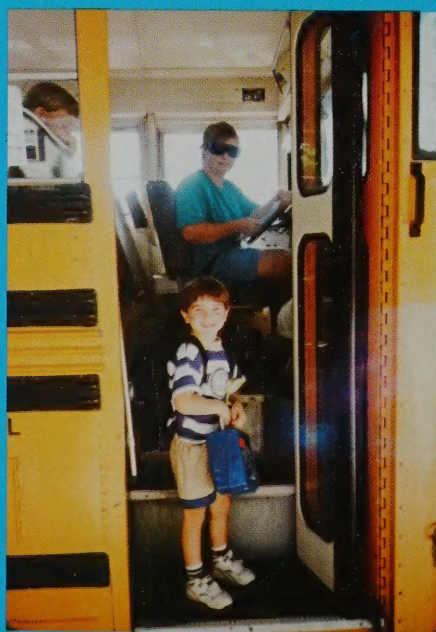

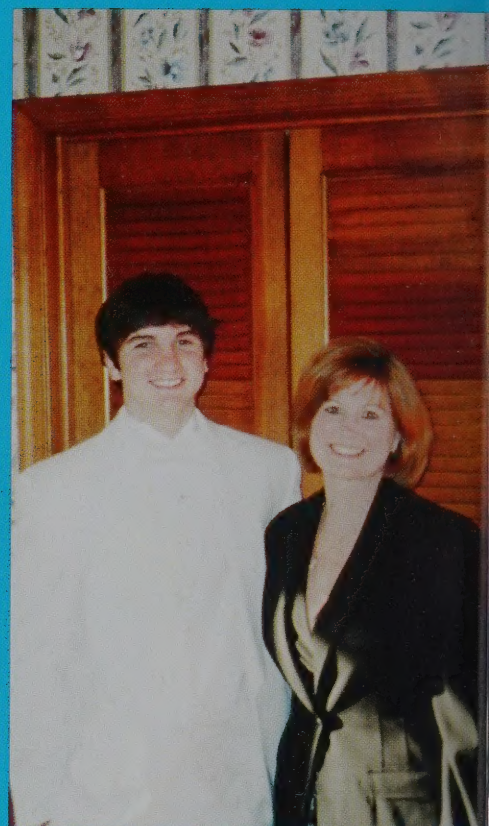

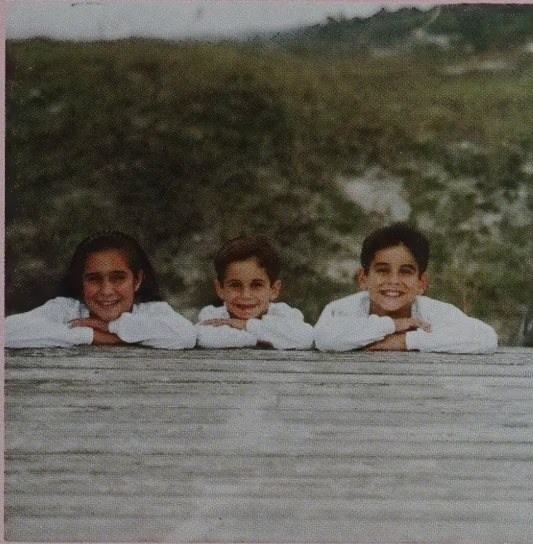

Billy Howe

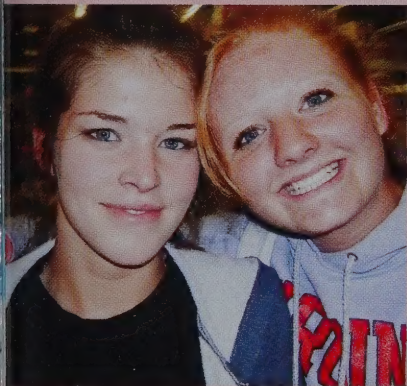

Billy Billy Billy dear
 you've make it through your senior year.
 Now off to college you will go
 and in wisdom you will grow!
 So different were we in our younger days
 opposites in so many ways.
 The only real common bond we had was Jenny, Brittany, Mom and Dad!
 We disagreed on almost every issue
 (I'd often resist the urge to hit you).
 Thank God we're both now more mature less petty quarreling we'll now endure!
 And as you prepare to be on your way
 here are a few things I'd like to say...
 Beware of frat parties and sorority girls
 And cafeteria food-it'll make you hurl.
 University classes are really quite tough
 and cramming all night is exceedingly rough!
 But aside from the things that I mention above
 The freedom of college ia a life you will LOVE!! love you too! Best of luck and congrats, Billy
 Your sister, Christy
 (Kellam Class of 2002)
 Congratulations on a Job Well Done, Billy
 With Love Always,
 Mom & Tim
 Dad & Rhonda
 Jenny, Christy & Brittany

Jill Hawver

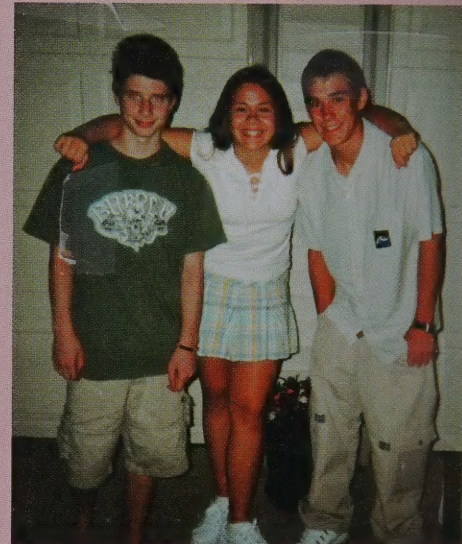

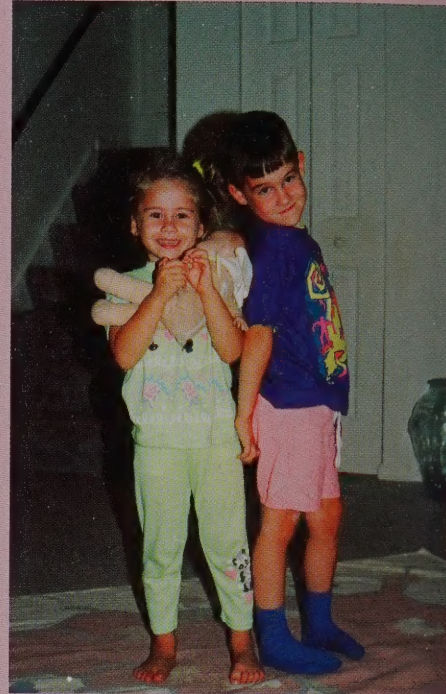

For years graduation has been the same old story,
As each of us recounts tales of growth and glory.
Yet, as we sit and ponder just one page to fill,
A book could not say how much we cherish you, Jill.
Love, Mom, Dad and Dilly

Amber Kiser

What can we say but WOW? You have been an incredible blessing from God. Your "enthusiasm" for life defines this incredible human being you truly are. (Enthusiasm is derived from 2 Greek words "en" and "thos"; "inspired by God.") Continue illuminating this world with your "special light." Stay humble and compassionate. Stay committed to doing what is right. Count your blessings every day. Keep trusting and believing in what God has in store for you. We're soooo proud of you. We love you bunches and bunches. Thanks for being our "Precious Ambles." With all of our love, Mom, Dad and Kevin

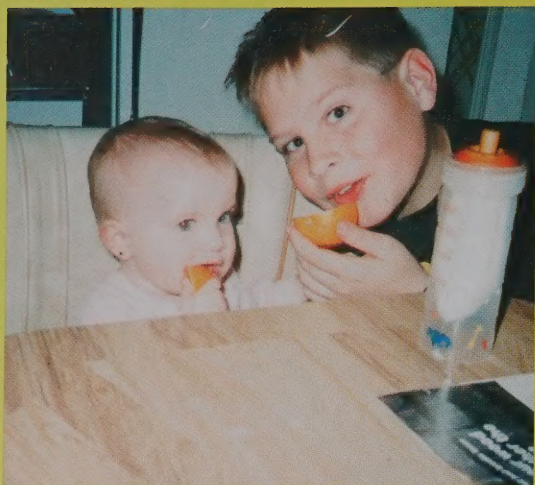

Time has gone much too fast.
We must let go of our adorable little girl and welcome the lovely young lady you've become.
Be happy; be yourself; believe all things are possible.
You are so loved.
Mom, Dad & Caroline

Casey Doyle

Kathy our baby girl.

You are a miracle from God. The doctors told us not to have you, too many things would be wrong; so they said... You were perfect.

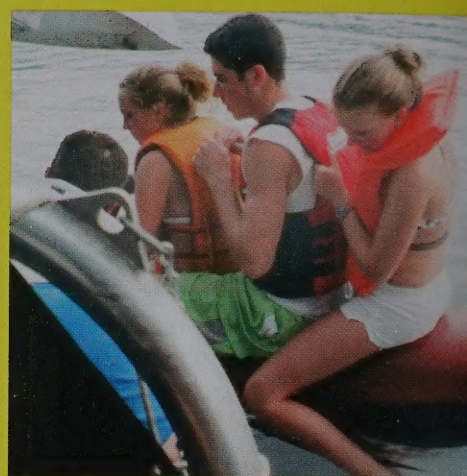

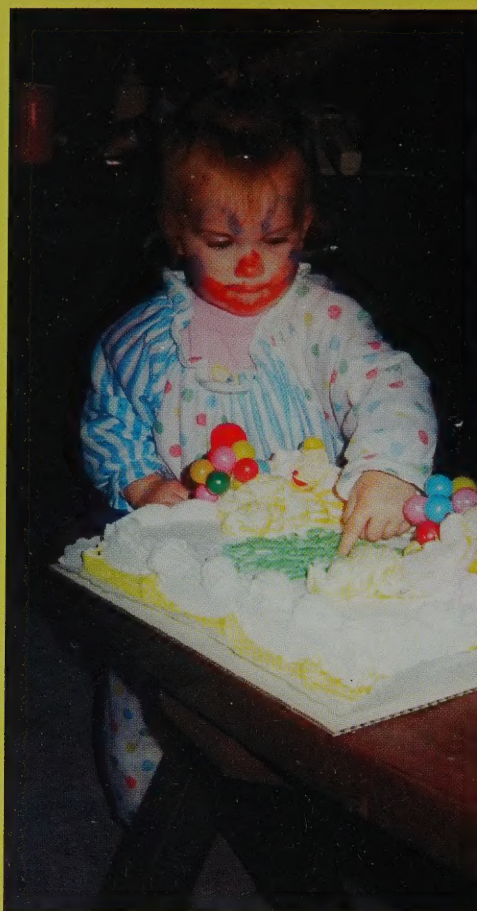

We almost lost you when you were 3, but an Angel took care of you. Again, God showed His miracles with you.

You have been protected all through your life because of His love for you - so he must have special plans for you!

We know that His hand has touched and blessed you. Go and follow Him and experience the plan that's laid ahead for you. Strive to be the best no matter what path you are taken down, and we'll be your cheering squad all the way! We're proud of you and we love you dearly.

If you get the chance to sit it our or dance...
DANCE!

Love, Dad, Mom, Bruce, Jason, Danny,
Kevin & Ashley

Kathy Roberts

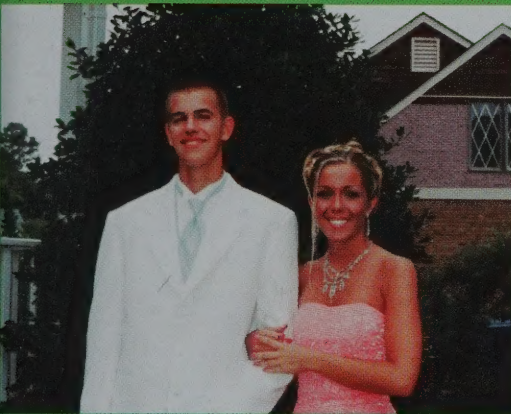

Ian Thomas

Ian,

We were blessed the day you came into our lives. You've been a wonderful son and brother. You have a kindness for family and friends that will always last. We are proud you will continue your education and also baseball. Remember to always focus and do your best at what you're trying to achieve. You can do it! We love you.

Colophon

That's All Folks!

The theme of the forty-third volume of the Challenger was "Bursting at the seams." At $55.00 each, Jostens Publishing Division printed 1500 copies. The cover is lithograph. Layouts were edited in Template Builder on Jostens Yearbook Avenue. Yellowjacket was used for headlines, Optima for captions, Helvetica Ultra Compressed for bylines, and a combination of the three for sub-headlines.

The yearbook staff would like to extend our thanks to Joe Boocks and Taren Meekins, our Jostens representatives, for their assistance and patience in helping us, as well as our Lifetouch Studios photographers for making picture days painless. The staff would also like to thank Mrs. Debbie Orr for all of her wisdom and SASI expertise that makes our lives easier, Mrs. Kathy Sarosdy for loaning us the use of her laptops, Mr. Wayne Pond for allowing us the use of his classroom, Mr. David Long for keeping our computers functioning, and Mrs. Laura Kight for helping us begin the book. Along with the representatives and teachers, we would like to thank the entire student body for their cooperation and making this year, a year to remember. Finally, the entire staff would like to thank their advisers Mrs. Amy Wellens and Ms. Robin Sears. Being the first year as advisers for both of them, they did a wonderful job. Together they kept things running smoothly and without them we would have been lost.

And now, the end is here;
And so we face the year's curtain,
My friends, I'll cheer it clear,
I'll state the case, of which I'm certain.

We've lived another year that's full,
We've taken each and ev'ry exam day;
And more, much more than this,
We did it the Kellam way.

Regrets, we may have few;
But then again, too few to mention.
We did what we had to do,
And saw it through without expulsion.

Teachers planned each day's course;
Each careful lesson along life's way,
But more, much more than this,
We did it the Kellam way.

Yes, there were times, I'm sure you knew
When we began to dread school.
But through it all, when there was doubt,
We ate it up and spat it out.
We faced it all and we stood tall;
And we did it the Kellam way.

We've loved, We've laughed and cried.
We've had our fill; our share of triumphs.
And now, as the year subsides,
We say goodbye, and see 'ya next year.

To think we did all that;
And may I say - not in a shy way,
No, oh no not us,
We did it the Kellam way.

For what is a Knight, what has he got?
If not his classmates, then he has naught.
To say the things he truly feels;
And not the words of one who kneels.
The record shows we took the blows -
And did it OUR way!

-Adaptation of the song "My Way"
